AIRLINER CRASHES TAKE 34 LIVES

NAZI ASSAULT IS TORTUROUS SLOW MOTION

SEVASTOPOL, NAVAL BASE, NOT YET MENACED

(By The Associated Press)

The German offensives upon both Moscow and Rostov on the lower Don seemed last (Thursday) night to have been beaten down generally to a mere tortured slow motion, if not indeed momentarily halted.

Soviet silence and Berlin's claims, taken together, suggested, however, that the upper defenses of the Russian Crimea were being widely breached by the invader, although it was in any case plain that the great prize of that region—the Red naval base at Sevastopol—was as yet in no sense directly menaced.

Going Gets Rough

In the southernmost Russian theater the German high command claimed that the Red troops were in flight down the peninsula and that the Nazis were in easy pursuit over "good tank country" into which they had broken at last after two weeks of terrible fighting through the swamps and fearsome fortifications of the Perekop isthmus connecting the Crimea to the mainland just to the north.

Still ahead, however—and this was acknowledged by the Germans—there was much harsh and inhospitable country short of Sevastopol itself, which is a hundred miles down from Perekop, for the intermediate plains give into rough terrain.

Moreover, the accounts of the Nazis themselves made it obvious that the invaders had suffered enormous casualties on the isthmus; they spoke of five lines of Russian casements that had to be broken; of a crazy network of barbed wire, tank traps, minefields, sheer concrete walls and trenches as deep as 45 feet against which every sort of German weapon, including flame throwers and grenade-throwing rifles, had to be turned for 14 bloody days.

Counter-Attacks Score

As to Moscow and as to the main southern offensive moving eastward above the Sea of Azov upon Rostov, the entrance city to the Caucasus, the German high command in its communique for yesterday said nothing whatever.

Soviet dispatches reported, however, that the drive on Rostov had been generally checked—just where was not said but most likely within ten miles of the city—and that Red counter-attacks in some areas had regained a series of heights on the coastal plain before Rostov's approaches.

Improvement in the Russian position on the nearer approaches to Moscow also was reported in these advices, which said that about 50 miles below the city Red troops had forced the Nara river and taken up strong positions on its south bank, having previously beaten back German efforts to cross to the north.

Enemy Stalled

A midnight Moscow communique mentioned heavy fighting in the region of Tula, a munitions center 100 miles south of the capital.

In other sectors about the city the Nazis were described as stalled or slightly thrown back.

The Germans for their part rounded out their claims of the day by reporting that their troops had reached the upper Donets river—that is in the Upper Ukraine—on a broad front. This seemed to have no great value, for the loss of Kharkov, the prin-

Federal Levy May Prune Pay Checks To Curb Inflation

BY IRVING PERLIMETER

Washington, Oct. 30, (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today called for a quick increase in social security taxes to ward off inflation and help finance the defense program.

He said there would be extra money in the pockets of the people, but no goods to buy with it. Therefore he wanted to "mop it up."

He declined to say what new tax rates he proposed, but authoritative sources said he was trying to choose between two plans which would either double or quintuple the tax on employe pay checks.

Drastic Proposal Favored

These sources said that under one plan being studied in the highest administration circles the present old age pension taxes of one per cent each on employes and employers would be increased to two per cent each, and the unemployment insurance tax on employers would be raised slightly from its present three per cent rate.

They said, however, there was also a strong possibility that the administration would choose a more drastic proposal which would increase the employes' pension tax from one to five per cent, while raising the employer's pension tax from one to two per cent so that after paying the three per cent unemployment insurance tax employers also would be paying a total of five per cent.

Morgenthau said at a press conference he would have his program ready for congress in the next two months.

Estimates Gathered

He said the treasury was gathering estimates of how much extra purchasing power the people were likely to have next year. Then, it will try to find methods of taking that much money out of circulation, both through social security taxes, regular taxes, and increased borrowing from small investors.

When asked whether certain other officials might not object to changes in the social security program to fit into other governmental needs, Morgenthau said, "I don't think any program today that has to do with taxes or borrowing can stand on its own feet independent of the treasury's borrowing program for national defense.

He added he had presented this view to Federal Security Aministrator Paul V. McNutt and that McNutt had agreed with him.

PRISON ARMORY TOO EXPENSIVE

Budget Director Nowicki Seeks Economy In State Projects

Lansing, Oct. 30. (AP) — State Budget Director Leo J. Nowicki today described as over-expensive a project to convert a portion of the old state prison of southern Michigan into an armory for Jackson.

He also criticized as "unnecessarily ambitious" a project for expansion of state laboratory facilities and said he would attempt to force economy in both.

Nowicki said work on the armory project, undertaken with WPA aid, was progressing too slowly and that "we must act promptly or the $120,000 allotted for it won't begin to cover the cost." He said he would make an immediate inventory of things needed to be completed "so we can turn over to the military establishment a unit which can be used," and discard other plans.

He said expansion of the health laboratories was attempted on too large a scale and, "as at the prison, with WPA help which has been slow." He said delays have occurred in face of mounting material costs.

Ashes Of Steamship Official Scattered Over Lake Superior

Cleveland, Oct. 30. (AP)—Ashes of A. F. Harvey, former president of the Pittsburgh Steamship company, U. S. Steel subsidiary, were scattered today over Lake Superior waters that his company's freighters plied for many years.

Services were held aboard the flagship W. A. Irvin. Harvey died last week.

EMBEZZLER PAROLED

Lansing, Oct. 30. (AP)—The state parole board today announced parole of Leon C. Wells, 35, former Ionia used car dealer, sentenced to serve from five to 15 years for embezzlement, was granted a year in advance of expiration of his minimum term with good behavior deductions.

MICHIGAN SUED FOR $13,000,000

Ann Arbor Man Claims Secret Process for Making Car Plates

Lansing, Oct. 30 (AP)—Charles S. Abbott, 71, of Ann Arbor, who was a pioneer in the automobile industry, sued the State of Michigan today for $13,000,000, plus damages.

Abbott, a lawyer and engineer, charged in his suit in the state court of claims that he never was paid for use of a secret process he says he developed for stamping license plates and road signs, although he had been promised half of the savings or profits the state would derive from its use.

Although the bill of complaint did not mention the person he said made the promise, Abbott's attorney, Frank C. Sibley, declared it was made by Charles J. Deland when the latter was secretary of state in 1921.

He also asked the court of claims to award Abbott damages for "wrongful disclosure of petitioner's secret process," a method of mechanically stamping license numbers into license plates, and another device for painting them in two colors. The numbers previously were painted on the plates. The work is done for the department of state by employes of the state prison of southern Michigan.

Sibley said the method was not patented, but that Abbott was acting in the theory "his rights are protected by the common law."

Investigator Drops Dead At Lansing

Lansing, Oct. 30 (AP)—Hugo Dahlman, 60, of Grand Rapids, a state employe, died after suffering a heart attack on a downtown street here today.

He was an investigator for the state insurance department since June 18 and had been chief inspector for the state fire marshall's division from 1917 until 1923.

Pilot Only Survivor Of Air Crash Near Fargo Fatal To 14

Moorhead, Minn., Oct. 30 (AP)—Soothed by sedatives, a veteran flying officer tonight rested for the ordeal of telling official investigators what happened during those agonizing moments today in the fatal, flaming crash of his Northwest Airlines transport plane.

Physicians declined to permit Captain Clarence Bates, 41, a 10,000 air hour flier, to talk about the 2 a. m. disaster that killed 14—everyone on the liner but the pilot.

Victims were twelve passengers, the stewardess and co-pilot.

Believe Ice Gathered

Whether, as unofficial outside observers believed, the ship gathered ice quickly in slipping down through fog and mist to freezing ground temperatures will not be known until Bates talks. Also eagerly awaited were details of Bates' exit from the plane. He presumably either was thrown from the cockpit or crawled from the wreckage, which caught fire almost immediately.

George Gardner, vice president in charge of NWA operations, said he was assured Bates was recovering rapidly from shock and minor injuries. Gardner, other NWA officials, civil aeronautics authority representatives and local authorities, as well as the aviation world awaited the direct details of the apparent sudden disabling of the 21-passenger plane as it virtually hovered over the Fargo airport.

Circled Over Field

That was its next stop on the Chicago to Seattle flight. Concealed by thick weather with a 500-foot ceiling, the twin motored transport reported to the St. Paul dispatcher that it was coming in on routine instrument approach from 2,700 feet. That was the last word although the big ship did circle over the field according to custom.

Gardner announced tonight Bates would not be interviewed about the catastrophe before Friday. "This is one of the rare cases in aviation history," said the NWA executive, "where a transport pilot had survived such a major crackup. We have not asked him a single thing. It is vital that his own story be obtained as possibly a milestone in the progress of flying."

Loser in the duel with death for his cargo in the deadly descent, Captain Bates gamely fought another futile fight on the ground. The only eye-witness to the tragedy reached the scene while the dazed pilot tried to rescue the trapped occupants.

E. M. Gregory, Great Northern railway employe, the witness said he saw the plane as he drove along a moment before the crash, then a burst of flames. Driving as

MISSING PILOTS LOCATED ALIVE

Army Searching Plane Spots Campfire In High Sierras

Fresno, Calif., Oct. 30. (AP)—Two army pilots, lost during a storm from a formation of 19 planes last Friday, were found alive beside a campfire in the Mt. Whitney region of the High Sierra, the army reported tonight.

They were spotted by an army searching plane. No sign of their planes was seen.

A relief plane was dispatched from the Fresno army air base to drop food and blankets to the pair, found at a rugged spot 90 air line miles east of Fresno, and 20 miles from Hume, where the last road into the wilderness ends.

A ground party, including medical officers, was ordered to the scene, but was not expected to reach the men before 10 a. m. or later Friday.

The operations officer at the air base said the men, observed from the air, were readily identified by their uniforms, plainly visible, along with army gear scattered on the ground.

A third flier, missing from the same plane formation last Friday, has not been located.

Pilots of the missing planes were Lieutenants L. C. Lydon, J. C. West and R. N. Long.

Army Is Ordered To Run Strikebound Plane Plant

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt tonight ordered the army to take over the Bendix, N. J., plant of Air Associates, Inc.

The plant has been harassed by labor disputes since a strike of CIO-United Automobile Workers started Sept. 30.

The president directed Secretary of War Stimson to take over operation of the plant and retain control as long as may be required in the interest of national defense.

Mr. Roosevelt accompanied the announcement of the taking over of the aircraft factory with the terse statement that: "Our country is in danger."

It was the third time the president has resorted to such drastic action to deal with time-consuming disputes between labor and management which have affected production in defense industries.

The first occasion was last spring when he ordered the army to take over the North American Aviation plant at Inglewood, Calif., where warplane production had been halted by a CIO walkout.

The second occasion was when the navy assumed control of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock yards at Kearny, N. J., after the management and the CIO Ship Builders Union became deadlocked in another industrial dispute.

The president acted while 400 CIO pickets gathered outside the plant and Sheriff William R. Browne of Bergen county, New Jersey, sent out a radio appeal to all chiefs of police in the county to "send as many men as possible" to the scene.

Sergeant Jacob Admirand of the Bergen county police said Browne feared trouble. Charles Kerrigan, regional director for the striking union, the United Automobile Workers of America, climbed atop an automobile with word of the president's action and appealed to the pickets to avoid any clashes.

OKLAHOMA HARD HIT BY FLOODS

Score of Cities Under Water; Two Deaths In Okmulgee

Oklahoma City, Oct. 30, (AP)—Floodwaters lashed at more than a score of Oklahoma cities and towns tonight, sending thousands from their homes, disrupting light, gas and water service and claiming at least two lives.

At Pauls Valley a levee broke before the straining waters of Rush creek, sending a torrent down the main street. Tonight a levee on the Washita river, just north of the town of 5,100, was reported to have gone out, inundating a large portion of the residential district.

The two deaths occurred in Okmulgee. Percy Ashby, about 70, was plunged into raging Okmulgee creek when a boat in which he was being carried to safety from his home capsized. Luther Taylor, about 30, leaped after him. Both perished.

In Oklahoma City hundreds who escaped the rising waters of the North Canadian were being housed and fed by welfare workers.

In the Tulsa area firemen commandeered all available boats to remove families to higher ground.

American Legionnaires, Red Cross workers and firemen, mobilized at Bartlesville to evacuate marooned families from the path of the Caney river.

At Comanche, a town of 1,600, the power and water plants were flooded. One fourth of the town was under water.

Seven Axis Ships Sunk At Alesund By U. S. Bombers

London, Oct. 30 (AP)—British airmen flying American-made Hudson bombers last night sank or damaged seven axis ships at Alesund, Norway, an important German supply base for the north Russian front, left a fish oil factory in flames, and machine-gunned troop barracks, the air ministry said tonight.

Other planes sweeping over northern France tonight attacked shipping off Boulogne and Le Harve, and fired hangars at Morlaix airdrome. Docks at Brest were attacked last night. Gunfire was heard in the London area tonight but there was no alert, nor were planes heard.

The British lost one plane in tonight's offensive, but none was lost at Alesund, which was described as "the most devastating shipping attack ever made by a single squadron."

Traffic Toll

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—Americans who keep an eye on the war zone slaughter overseas could direct their attention tonight to a sizable slaughter in their own country.

The National Safety Council informed that 27,860 men, women and children lost their lives as a result of motor vehicle accidents in the United States in the first three quarters of 1941.

The toll for the nine months was 17 per cent greater than in a similar period last year.

During September 3,770 persons were injured fatally on streets and highways. It was the 14th consecutive month to show an increase over the corresponding month of the previous year, but the size of the increase—14 per cent—was the smallest since last January.

CAPTIVE COAL MINE STRIKE ENDS QUICKLY

LEWIS AND TAYLOR FRAME TRUCE IN LOVE FEAST

BY CARSON F. LYMAN

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—A four-day strike of 53,000 captive coal miners was terminated today under a 17-day truce accepted by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, and Myron C. Taylor, director and former board chairman of United States Steel corporation.

The mines were scheduled to start reopening tonight or tomorrow, and operations were expected to be back to normal by Saturday.

Decision Not Binding

Under the agreement, suggested by President Roosevelt last night in a letter to William H. Davis, chairman of the defense mediation board, the mines will continue to operate pending a second attempt by the board to mediate the dispute over a demand for a union shop. Neither the mine operators nor the union, however, will be bound to accept the board's recommendations.

The mine workers stipulated that they had accepted the agreement for a period ending November 15. Union officials said this was to prevent "a long, drawn-out," session of the board. On a previous occasion the board considered the dispute several weeks before making its recommendations.

Four Appeals Made

(The captive mines involved in the strikes are mines owned by steel companies, which do not place the coal on the open market but use it in their own operations. If a union shop is granted, all miners will have to become members of the union after a certain period of employment.

(The strike was ended after four appeals by President Roosevelt. Lewis rejected the first two and made no public reply to the third.)

Lewis announced the UMW's decision to order the men back to work at a dramatic press conference with Taylor.

Lewis joined Taylor at the latter's hotel after conferring for two hours with a score of district officials of the United Mine Workers. He later said the district leaders had voted unanimously to accept the president's proposal.

EXPRESS TIEUP COMES TO END

Two Other Plants In Detroit Kept Idle By Walkouts

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A four-week-old strike that had tied up shipments of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., in Detroit was settled yesterday (Thursday) but disputes kept two other plants—the Defoe Boat & Motor Works at Bay City and Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company's machine gun plant at Plymouth—closed a second day.

Members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks (AFL), who had struck Oct. 4 against the Express Agency in a dispute with the Teamsters Union (AFL) over representation of drivers and wage demands, returned to their jobs last midnight by accepting a settlement proposed by the National Railway Mediation board.

The strike had tied up rail and air shipments vital to defense.

Meanwhile, 1,500 workers at the Kelsey-Hayes plant were to vote on a back-to-work movement pending negotiation of grievances by federal and state concillators. The United Automobile Workers (CIO) walked out early Wednesday, demanding a five-cent hourly wage increase and removal of women from machine jobs. Present pay scales are $1 an hour for men and 85 cents for women. The plant manufactures machine guns for aircraft.

Soft Steel Shell Casings Proposed To Save On Copper

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Defense officials, it was learned today, are considering the possibility of making shell casings from soft steel plated with copper.

Heretofore, casings have been made of copper and brass. One unofficial estimate was that 400,000 tons of copper could be saved annually by the use of steel, and a copper shortage averted.

Both Germany and Russia are understood to be using copper-plated steel casings.

NEW ESCANABA WATER TESTED

State Health Chief Says Wells May Reduce Dental Decay

Lansing, Oct. 30 (AP)—The state health department today disclosed that the City of Escanaba has a new water supply source that may result in increased dental health for future generations in the upper peninsula city.

Dr. H. Alten Moyer, state health commissioner, said the U. S. public health service has displayed interest in the city's shift from Lake Michigan water to a supply from five deeply-drilled wells.

Chemical tests of the well water, Dr. Moyer said, indicate it contains a trace of flourine compounds, which are believed to prevent tooth decay. It is not definitely known, the commissioner said, whether flourine or an accompanying substance prevents the decay.

"The Escanaba test is regarded as an ideal experiment," Dr. Moyer said. "In the same town and in the same families, it will allow a comparison of dental health in children who have never had fluorides in their drinking water, and in children who have never known any drinking water but the new supply containing fluorides."

Bomber Girdles Globe; Trip Sets New World Record

Washington, Oct. 30, (AP)—A four-engine army bomber landed at Bolling Field today at the end of a 24,700 mile globe-circling trip which the war department said set a world record.

The plane took members of the mission headed by W. Averell Harriman to Moscow by way of the Atlantic ocean and several members of the mission returned aboard the bomber by way of the Pacific.

Commanded by Major Alva L. Harvey of the air corps, the plane, a Consolidated B-24 craft dubbed the "Liberator" by the British left Bolling Field for Moscow Sept. 13.

Officials would not say whether the new record was for elapsed time, or distance.

Aside from Major Harvey, the crew included First Lieutenant J. B. Montgomery, co-pilot; Second Lieutenant J. A. Hutchins, Jr., navigator; Master Sergeants J. G. Moran and C. D. Green, engineers; and Technical Sergeant J. H. Walsh, radio operator.

Freighter Ordered Held At Soo; Deaths On Tug Investigated

Detroit, Oct. 30, (AP)—Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Julian G. McIntosh asked state police and Chippewa county authorities to intercept the freighter B. F. Jones at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and to hold the captain for questioning in the sinking last Thursday of the tug America with a loss of six lives.

The request followed a charge by McIntosh, who is making his own investigation into the sinking, that a special federal marine board, also inquiring into the disaster, had hampered his office

McIntosh previously had expressed resentment that he had been unable to interview survivors because they had been taken to Ohio after the sinking. He also charged the marine board had called insufficient witnesses.

PLANE BOUND FOR DETROIT FALLS, BURNS

TRAGEDY IN CANADA FATAL TO 20; RAIN IS BLAMED

By The Associated Press

Yesterday was the most disastrous, in terms of lives lost, in the history of American commercial airlines, a check of available records indicated.

The toll reached 34 when 20 persons died in the fall of an American Airlines transport near St. Thomas, Ontario. Fourteen were killed earlier in the crash of a Northwest Airlines plane near Moorhead, Minn.

This was the first time that two airliners crashed in a single day in the United States.

MASS OF FLAMES

St. Thomas, Ont., Oct. 30. (AP)—An American airlines plane flying through drizzling rain from Buffalo to Detroit crashed and burned on a farm near here tonight and the 17 passengers and crew of three all were killed.

The plane struck a field a quarter of a mile from a farmhouse 14 miles west of here at 10:30 p. m., E. S. T. It was a mass of flames when the first witnesses reached the scene for futile rescue efforts and was still burning an hour later. The cause of the crash was not determined.

None Escape

Royal Canadian air force officers from nearby Fingan air school were among the first to arrive. They said none of the passengers or crew could have escaped.

The plane was not heard by nearby farmers before it hit, less than 24 hours after a Northwest Airlines plane crashed near Fargo, N. D., airport, killing 14.

Thompson Howe, first to reach the plane, said:

"I was at the barn when it fell. It crashed in my field near the road, about a quarter of a mile from my house. When I got to it the plane was a mass of flames. I'm sure no one got out. I heard nothing before the crash."

Due At 10:41

Crew members were Captain I. Cooper, 34, of Plandome, N. Y.; First Officer R. Owens, and Stewardess Mary E. Blackley.

Andrew NewComb, airline district sales manager at Buffalo, asserted the ship left Buffalo airport at 9:03 p. m. (EST) and was due in Detroit one hour and 38 minutes later.

The plane was reported over Jarvis, Ont., at 9:11 p. m. he said, adding:

"All the passengers and crew are dead."

The flight started in New York City and had ten passengers when it arrived at Buffalo, Newcomb said. Seven more were picked up in Buffalo.

PARACHUTE TO SAFETY

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 30, (AP)—The crew of nine parachuted to safety tonight just before a twin-motored B18A bomber crashed into a dense wood two and a half miles from Great Falls, S. C., and burst into flames.

The bomber was returning on an ordered flight from Columbia, S. C., to the army air base here.

It was used by the 29th air base group for administrative purposes.

The bomber was piloted by William G. Ternille. Others aboard included the copilot, S. A. Zwanzig, 20th Pursuit group; Major

SOVIETS PREFER TO FIGHT ALONE

Battle Line Will Stay West of Moscow, Says Stalin to Hopkins

New York, Oct. 30, (AP)—"The battle line will remain west of Moscow."

Thus spoke Joseph Stalin to Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's special representative, who described his dramatic and historic meeting with the Russian leader in an article in the current American magazine.

"We Russians shall win the war," Hopkins said Stalin told him. "The battle line will remain west of Moscow. Russia will not fail. Russia is big, Russia is exorable. Russia is fighting—for Russia. She will not again be enslaved. Once we trusted this man—"

And then Hopkins commented: "I hope I shall never be hated as Stalin hates Hitler."

When Stalin spoke of Hitler, Hopkins said, "his manner was more eloquent than his words. Then his body grew tense. He didn't raise his voice; rather it went as cold as his eyes, and the mellow harshness of it became grating.

"For Hitler he had more than the anger he would necessarily have for a man who had double-crossed him; it was a personal hatred that I have seldom heard expressed by anyone in authority."

Hopkins says Stalin did not want our army or navy.

"Russia wants to fight her war herself," he said. "Her manpower reserves are huge . . . but Stalin also told me, frankly, what Russia needs, that her men and women may give all their strength to the cause which is ours as well as hers.

"Stalin asks for tanks, for planes, for big guns, anti-aircraft guns, anti-tank guns, for ammunition, and for the superb high-octane gasoline that America produces and is shipping to England. Stalin asked for huge quantities of barbed wire, too."

near as he could, then running, he came upon Bates just rising from the ground.

No Screaming Heard

Gregory, who was driving toward Fargo, said Bates was about 15 feet in front of the plane's nose.

"He was frantic and was screaming 'Get them out!'

" 'How do you do it?' I asked.

" 'Through the door,' he replied, 'but watch out because the four gasoline tanks haven't all exploded.'

"I ran around the plane, but it was too hot to get to the door. I went around the plane to see if there was any pounding at the windows, but there wasn't and I couldn't hear any screaming.

"Bates had collapsed on the ground and I dragged him farther away from the flames. It was apparent those in the plane were beyond help."

Gregory ran to call for help and returned to find Bates on the ground, moaning "We've got to get them loose." Gregory said Bates tried to rise to go to the plane, but the railroad man restrained him.

FEW IDENTIFIED

Moorhead, Minn., Oct. 30 (AP)—Only five of the 14 charred bodies taken from the wreckage of a Northwest Airlines plane which crashed in flames near here today had been definitely identified tonight, while tentative identifications had been made of two more. The bodies were taken from the crash scene to two Moorhead funeral parlors.

Miss Bernice Blowers, stewardess, Welcome, Minn.

Tentative identifications have been established for E. A. King, Fargo, N. D., business man and Mrs. Jay Packard, Atlantic City, N. J.

Grange Asks 10-Cent Rate On Car Licenses

BY JACK I. GREEN

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 30 (AP) — The politically influential Michigan State Grange today called on the next legislature to reduce the automobile license fee a flat ten cents per hundredweight.

By an unnounced vote the delegates turned down several attempts to sidetrack such a proposal and followed the recommendation of their master, W. G. Armstrong of Niles.

The resolution as adopted in the final day's session of the convention made it clear the endorsement did not extend to another plan advanced in initiatory petitions circulated by the Michigan Automobile Dealers Association, which advocates a cut from 35 to 10 cents a hundred.

Highways Shoulder Loss

It also, differing again from the MADA proposal, would make up tax revenues which local governments would lose by the cut by dipping into the gas tax, and place the entire loss on the shoulders of the state highway department.

Major argument advanced against the resolution came from Charles Figy of Morenci, a Grange director, who suggested the resolution lie over until next year so that it would risk no danger of being associated with the MADA plan.

Armstrong asserted the Grange should not lack the courage to take its own stand on public questions, and need not worry about "who will get the credit."

The delegates also approved a resolution urging the sales tax on foodstuffs be eliminated, despite expressed fears it might injure state aid to public schools.

Drys Are Heard

In several forms the convention gave strong support to a committee of organized agriculture formed in Lansing last week to seek a new state advertising law which would allocate $125,000 annually to advertise Michigan farm products. It was amended to suggest that the farm organizations benefitting be required to match the fund by no more than tourist associations match their state advertising fund.

The predominently "dry" delegates approved a resolution asking the sale of "beer to take out" be forbidden; removal of all seats from beer sales establishments, and listing of alcoholic content on all containers.

Another resolution urged that labor strikes involving damage and inconvenience to persons not involved in the dispute be declared illegal. It also asked that labor unions be required to incorporate, and called for courts to settle industrial disputes.

The legislature was asked to forbid the Communist party a place on the ballot, a move which failed in the 61st legislature.

Price Ceiling Opposed

A lengthy report on the condition of agriculture asserted farmers are "ready and willing to feed the nation," but believe there should be more governmental consideration of their problems. Asserting farmers still are not receiving sufficient income, the delegates formally asked for fewer restrictions on agriculture and more assistance in developing new markets. It saw as solutions to its marketing problem the use of more advertising and the substitution of crops which could be used for industrial processing.

Asserting the farmer "essentially is a technical worker," the delegates declared defense agencies should provide them with adequate supplies of farm machinery.

Opposition to a ceiling on farm prices until parity with the price of manufactured products is reached was expressed.

The Grange demanded that manufacturing concerns be forced to "render harmless" all industrial wastes before depositing them in Michigan lakes and streams; urged more appropriations for state parks; demanded that tags similar to those placed by hunters on slain deer be required in bird hunting; asked compensation for livestock killed by bears, and requested an increased bounty on coyotes.

Waitress, Bitten By Customer, Asks For Compensation

Salt Lake City, Oct. 30 (AP)—Harry Christensen, 49, suffered head lacerations from a falling wrench.

He was walking under a ladder.

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—One reporter said John Craven had a hot idea. Another said he had a cool head. Anyway, here's what happened:

Robbers found him alone in his tavern today, took $14 and locked him in the basement ice box. As he shuddered he noticed the valves on the coils leading from the refrigerator to the bar upstairs. He turned them off.

The bartender arrived 45 minutes later, tried in vain to draw beer, went downstairs to investigate and freed his boss.

Indianapolis, Oct. 30 (AP)—Mrs. John Entwistle and Mrs. Alfred McCulloch, Indianapolis sisters, keep pace with each other.

Last January they were married, less than four days apart.

Last week they went to the same hospital as expectant mothers.

Last Sunday at 8:30 a. m. Mrs. Entwistle had a son and twelve hours later Mrs. McCulloch had a daughter.

Today both were in the hospital room and both expected to leave at the same time.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 30 (AP)—A new hazard in the career of a waitress was reported by the state industrial relations department.

It said a Louisville waitress, Matti Campbell, filed a workmen's compensation claim for an unspecified amount after a restaurant customer bit her on the arm.

ALIEN TRAINING PLANS OUTLINED

Citizenship Education Program Allotted $350,000 Budget

Lansing, Oct. 30 (AP)—Sponsored jointly by the state department of public instruction, the U. S. immigration and naturalization service and the Works Progress Administration, a 12-member council was organized here today to provide citizenship training for 291,000 aliens in Michigan.

Dr. Benjamin J. Buikema, assistant superintendent of schools in Grand Rapids, was named permanent chairman of the council which, according to Dr. Eugene Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, will designate training schools in each school district.

Elliott said the work is part of a national citizenship education program for which the president has ear-marked $14,000,000 of WPA funds. Michigan was assigned $235,000 which will be used to pay instructors from WPA rolls who will be employed by local boards of education, he said.

Other members of the state council include M. A. Kopka, Hamtramck superintendent of schools, and Paul Werner, assistant director of immigration and naturalization service, Detroit, and F. S. De Galan, director of adult education, Detroit board of education.

NAZI ASSAULT IS TORTUROUS SLOW MOTION

cipal city in the region, already had been acknowledged by the Russians.

In any event this third one of three German offensives in the Russian south, seemed at the moment the least important of all. The two others—into the Crimea and toward Rostov—were part of the same general operation. The German intention was to knock out Sevastopol concurrently with the eastward effort to break into the Caucasus, and apparently was causing rising concern in Britain.

Hitler Feels Losses

One authority in London remarked that the Turks, nominal and non-belligerent allies, were plainly getting scared and he implied what he did not say: that there was some fear lest Turkey provide a highway for Hitler in what some expect the winter to bring — a battlefront extending from the Caucasus to Italian Libya in Africa.

Connected with all this speculation as to the future was the receipt by the Associated Press in New York of competent advices indicating that Hitler was feeling his losses in men—that he was calling in Germans abroad to come and fight on the Russian front.

There also have been various indications—not all of them disinterested but not all of them necessarily wrong, either — that there is a shortage of skilled workers in Germany.

In France the day brought from the Vichy government manifestations of concern lest the agitation of General Charles De Gaulle for a demonstration today (Friday) against the Germans be too much heeded.

Petain imposed a strict prohibition against listening to "anti-national" stations broadcasting in French, the penalty being fines of $200 and up to two years' imprisonment.

Last night De Gaulle, who is leader of the Free French, broadcast from London a new appeal to the French people to stand silent and idle for five minutes today—thus to show that France was "preparing for vengeance under her tattered flags."

MEMORIAL COMPLETED

Lansing, Oct. 30 (AP)—A bronze memorial will be unveiled at the home of former Governor David H. Jerome at Saginaw November 11 in a ceremony sponsored jointly by the Michigan and Saginaw Valley historical societies.

Detroit Defense Plants See Duke In Speedy Tour

Detroit, Oct. 30 (AP)—In an eight-hour span — one working shift—the Duke of Windsor today made a whirlwind tour of this motor city's huge defense plants to see for himself how instruments of warfare roll off assembly lines.

Wtihin a few minutes after alighting from a train that had brought him from New York and through Canada—a dominion he once ruled as King Edward VIII of Great Britain—the duke was dodging overhead cranes and bobbing in and out of aisles of whirring machines and spinning wheels in Chrysler corporation's $30,000,000 tank arsenal.

His dashes from one plant to another, fitting in with the idea of defense "speed-up," left his entourage almost breathless.

Pausing only to shake hands with an oil-stained workman or to wave to cheering workers, the duke, with an engineering background gained from four years as a naval cadet, fired questions at laborers and guides alike with machine-gun rapidity.

When he came to the end of the asembly line in the tank arsenal he climbed into a 28-ton medium tank. Shaken, but grinning, he bumped his head as he emerged after a ten-minute inspection ride.

The tank's test driver, the duke learned, was Joseph (Scotty) Meneck, who had served under him in World War I.

"Do you play the pipes?" asked the duke.

"I canna do that," Meneck replied.

"You sing, then?"

"Nor sing, either."

"No? What a Scotsman!"

Dispensing with a police escort —it was explained his highness doesn't like sirens—the duke was whisked to a corporation proving grounds where army trucks chugged through wheel-deep mud and climbed steep grades.

After a buffet lunch with automobile chieftains, the duke visited General Motors corporation's Cadillac division, where airplane parts are being made, and then spent the remainder of the afternoon with Henry Ford.

The motor magnate, who was host to the duke when he visited the city as the Prince of Wales in 1924, escorted him through the Ford Motor company's airplane plant in suburban Dearborn and then toured the company's $40,000,000 plant at Willow Run where, at capacity operation, 60,000 workers will turn out four-motored Consolidated B-24D bombers on a mile-long assembly line.

The duke, who was not accompanied by the duchess, left for New York early tonight.

RELIEF INCREASES

Lansing, Oct. 30 (AP)— Michigan's direct relief case load increased 404 cases in a week to a total of 29,695, but the rise did not occur in industrial areas, John D. O'Connel, state welfare director, said today.

Camp Robinson, Ark., Oct. 30 (AP)—Norman Saksvig, world champion typist, was unable to appear today for a scheduled demonstration before 35th Division stenographers.

He was called into service in the Army Air Corps.

Grading Of Foods To Be Enforced

Lansing, Oct. 30. (AP)—Alex F. Koslosky, director of the state bureau of foods and standards, today ordered rigid enforcement of food grading standards with the admonishment to inspectors to use "common horse sense."

In a letter to all inspectors, Koslosky asserted Michigan's efforts to gain favorable position in the struggle for the nation's markets depended upon enforcement of grading standards.

He pointed out that wholesalers or retailers compelled to dump 20 to 50 per cent of their fruit because inspectors consider it inedible would be slow to offend again.

While stressing need for improvement of the quality of Michigan apples, he said, close inspection also should be made of egg, poultry and potato production.

North Western Ry. Veteran Retires

Iron River — Rodolph Rabichaud, Fifth avenue, ended 40 years of service on the North Western railroad on this division Saturday night and turned his attention to plans for a winter's vacation in the south.

He and Mrs. Rabichaud expect to leave about Dec. 1 for Tampa, Fla. They may be away for two years, a long sojourn deserved by the native of Florence who has resided here 20 years.

Rabichaud drove to Powers Sunday for a visit with his son, Hamilton, superintendent of Powers-Spalding schools. It seemed a little hard to believe he had ended his long period of duty as a switchman on the railroad.

Since 1902

When he began work on the line April 12, 1902, ore cars held only 20 tons and a train of 25 cars was a hard pull for an engine bound out of Crystal Falls over the Panola grade to Antoine yards. From Iron Mountain, the ore trains to Escanaba were longer, about 60 cars.

Today, ore cars carry 70 tons and more powerful engines draw 35 to 50 from here to Antoine, and double that number on the second leg of the jaunt to the docks.

"I'll say times have changed," the veteran railroader observed. "Thirty-nine years and six months is a long spell of railroading too."

Present Pipe

Fellow employes of the North Western, all engaged in keeping the ore and timber moving through the Iron river valley to docks and mills, honored Rabichaud a week ago. They gathered at the Bruno hall, presented him with a choice meerschaum pipe, and climaxed a friendly evening with lunch at midnight.

Recollections of former years on the Peninsula division were exchanged while the men played cards.

"We've enjoyed working with you, Rodolph," they declared, "and we're going to miss you."

Rabichaud who recently became 65 years of age, is retiring on a pension.

Hammar of the Central Methodist church officiating, and burial will be made in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Cars Are Slightly Damaged In Wreck On Ludington Street

Cars driven by William Johnson, 201 North 16th street, and John Walch, 709 Fifth avenue south, were slightly damaged in a collision near the intersection of Ludington and Tenth streets late Wednesday afternoon.

Police officers said that both machines were proceding east on Ludington and Walch's sedan struck the rear end of the Johnson coach. A fender and headlight on the Walch car and a fender on the Johnson car were damaged.

Neither driver was injured.

The sixteenth census of the United States, in 1940, showed the nation with a population of 131,409,881.

Hallowe'en At E. H. S.

Miss Pat Shepeck (hiding behind what might be the remains of a sheet) and Aaron Stein, Escanaba high school students, donned those grotesque costumes for visits to city schools, where they reminded youngsters of the Hallowe'en carnival at Esky high tonight.

Police Scales Will Not Be Available For Several Weeks

The police scales will not be available for a week or ten days beginning today, Police Chief Michael Ettenhofer said yesterday as the steam main extension project moved into the 1000 block alley between Ludington and First avenue south.

The alley will be torn up and it will be impossible for trucks or other vehicles to get into it to use the scales, the chief said.

School Carnival Will Entertain Youngsters

Movies, freak shows, spook shows, games of chance and skill, "eats," favors and noise—Escanaba high school offers all to the youth of the city tonight, with the hope that the same will materially reduce the extent of window-soaping, gate-pilfering and other property damage normally credited to youngsters on Hallowe'en.

The annual Escanaba high school Hallowe'en carnival, past versions of which were so successful that other and larger schools requested information about the colorful events, will be held at the school tonight from 7 o'clock until midnight. Shirer Will Speak At Duluth Nov. 10

Duluth, Minn.—Civic and business leaders of northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan will meet here Monday, November 10, to attend an "All Out" dinner sponsored by the Duluth Ambassadors.

Wm. L. Shirer, dean of Berlin's American news commentators and author of the best seller "Berlin Diary", will be the principal speaker. He will give a first-hand account of important German moves and will elaborate on secrets heretofore only guardedly hinted in his broadcast from the Axis region.

The contribution this area is making to the National Defense program will be summarized in detail at the dinner—first event of this character to be held in the Lake Superior region.

The meeting is scheduled for the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Duluth, 6:30 P. M., November 10. Advance reservations should be made through Ambassadors of Duluth headquarters, according to Robt. S. Mars, president of that organization.

Chas. F. Liscomb, past president of the Duluth Chamber of Commerce, will act as toastmaster.

Poorly Timed

THERE is a growing feeling that the visit of the duke and duchess of Windsor to the United States was very poorly timed. The former king of England, who gave up his crown for the love of a woman and now holds the sinecure of "Governor of the Bahamas", may hold a high place in the hearts of the romantically inclined in this country, but the manner of their traveling, as they have toured this nation and Canada, without regard for expense, together with the free spending shopping sprees engaged in by the duchess at their every stop, is sadly out of line with the present spirit of the times.

With the people of this nation taxed as they never were taxed before and faced by more taxes and more personal sacrifices in coming months, the people who are furnishing the money to finance the English government today, must take exception to the wanton squandering by a fellow and his wife. True, the spending of this couple and their manner of living, is but a drop in the bucket of the billions being raised by this nation for the mother country of the duke and duchess, but the example they have set is, at least, in poor taste.

The visit of the duke and duchess, however, is but an incident to an almost constant stream of royalty, being lavishly entertained these days at our own White House. There is no evidence of the slightest effort at personal sacrifice by the heads of our government, commensurate with the sacrifices they are demanding from the people who pay the bills.

It isn't a healthy feeling for a $20 a week clerk to know that the amount he will have to contribute to the government from his salary next year, was but a small part of the amount squandered by the duchess of Windsor for but one of many $40 hats she has bought, at her various stops in this country.

The Hunting Industry

MOST Upper Peninsula citizens regard bird and deer hunting as a sport, but out in South Dakota the pastime of pheasant hunting is considered to be one of the state's important industries.

The eastern third of South Lakota is a great pheasant hunting country, and each year attracts hunters from as far away as the Upper Peninsula. The Watertown, S. D., Chamber of Commerce this year copied the Nahma shindig idea, and invited 500 out-of-state hunters to its annual pheasant dinner. Each holder of a nonresident license was admitted free of charge.

In order to attract hunters from other states, South Dakota is offering a season bag of 25 pheasants or partridges, plus 25 migratory waterfowl. The state's pheasant population is estimated at from 10,000,000 to 50,000,000, and has withstood heavy shooting, for from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 birds have been killed each year during the past decade.

Non-resident pheasant hunters spend more than a half million dollars during the season in a territory, which has a population of about 500,000 people. License fees total $150,000, and approximately $300,000 is spent during the season from Oct. 1 to Nov. 19 for hotels, food, liquor, ammunition, cold storage and incidentals.

Small communities of the Upper Peninsula experience a similar spurt in trade during the two-week deer hunting season. The business comes mostly from Lower Peninsula hunters, for the $25 non-resident license fee is a deterrent to the sportsmen of the other states. The number of out-of-state hunters has been increasing in recent years, however.

Fall hunting is becoming an increasingly important factor in the development of the Upper Peninsula's tourist industry.

Menace of Inflation

BOTH England and the United States are facing the problem of rising prices and inflation. This question always arises when the production of a country is concentrated mainly on war goods while the growing spending power of its citizens is focused on the diminishing supply of goods for consumption. The United States is relatively self-sufficient, while England has had to take drastic measures to conserve and control materials which have to be imported. Since the problem of importing is growing more difficult, conservation becomes the more important.

England is unable to manufacture sufficient weapons for war for her own needs and those of her allies. From the beginning of the war she was obliged to mobilize her resources of gold, foreign exchange and securities in order to pay for imports. These assets are being rapidly exhausted and she is importantly dependent on the Lend-Lease Act for further supplies from the United States. At the same time she is husbanding, to the best of her ability, all her resources.

From the outbreak of war, the British people have been forced to reduce their consumption of sugar, tea, fats, meat and many other essentials of living. Motor fuel was early strictly rationed and no new private cars can be bought, unless they are to be used for the war effort. As the war has continued the situation has become of great inconvenience to the public.

Meanwhile retail prices have continued to rise. The depreciation of sterling in terms of the dollar, and increased freight rates and marine insurance contributed to this, as well as the pressure on consumption goods. The cost of living in general continues to rise above the pre-war level, leading to a demand for higher wages. The country's wage bill has risen about $400,000,000 since 1939.

To counteract the spiral of rising wages and prices the British Government subsidized essential foodstuffs to the sum of about $400,000,000 a year. Maximum prices were fixed about two years ago for many consumption goods, and plans are being worked out for the stabilization of transport and public utility services.

A Prices of Goods Act was introduced in the early months of the war. Under this act the Board of Trade, acting on the advice and under the consent of a Central Price Regulation Committee, has power to regulate the prices of certain goods. In July of this year Parliament passed the Goods and Services Bill. This is mainly an enabling act, giving powers to the President of the Board of Trade to fix prices, from time to time, for any kind of goods, other than food, or to fix maximum percentage margins of profit for manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers.

Wages, however, have not so far been regulated. As an alternative the government is endeavoring to convince workers that their real wages will remain stabilized if they refrain from seeking higher money wages, and has issued an explanation of its policy. The pinch is not in money, but in goods available to be purchased. For this reason it is pointed out that more money and less goods will not solve the worker's problem.

Growing pains of England and the United States over supplies, prices and their control are everywhere in evidence. In England sacrifices have diminished the comforts of every home, and the people of the United States are in grim prospect of experiencing the same thing.

A New Labor Saver

THE Rust cotton picking machine promises to revolutionize the main industry of the South, and similar benefits to the sugar beet industry are offered by the development of a new beet combine.

The combine promises to save time and prevent many backaches for it does the entire harvesting job—topping, lifting and loading. "Stoop labor" is reduced to a minimum.

The new machine is about ready to be turned over to the manufacturers after several years of joint research by the U. S. department of agriculture, the University of California, Colorado College of Agriculture and the Beet Sugar Manufacturers' association.

The "average-sized" combine is 20 feet long, weighs 3,000 pounds, and is hauled by and powered from a diesel tractor. Combines developed heretofore have been elaborate, costly affairs, but this one will be within the price reach of the average grower. The new combine may offer some new opportunities for the beet industry of Menominee and Delta counties.

WPA WAGES UP
(Milwaukee Journal)

The pay of WPA workers is being increased. For those earning less than $90 a month, the increase will be a flat $5.20. What the increase will be for those earning more than $90 a month has not yet been decided.

The increase has one sole reason — to bring the purchasing power of those engaged on "made work" up to where it was before recent prices rises.

Thus does government take care of the wages of its least necessary—perhaps we might say its unneccessary — workers. Presently it will be called upon to do a similar thing for at least the lower paid among its permanent workers. And all because prices are climbing day by day, with government talking on and on but doing little or nothing to retard them.

Unless WPA and other wages are to be hiked again and again, congress had better come out of its stupor and enact a real price fixing law.

Wrong: "She thinks everyone are her enemies." Right: She thinks everyone is her enemy.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington — Inner America First circles are churning over reports that Senator Burt Wheeler plus cronies are thinking of climbing off the wobbling isolationist band wagon.

The other two are Republican Senators C. Wayland ("Curly") Brooks of Ill., and Raymond E. Willis of Indiana.

Publicly, the three are still talking isolationism in calliope overtones. But what gives significant color to the inside word that they are looking for a way out was their stand on the last lend-lease bill.

This bill was vigorously opposed by America First. But none of them took any part in the debate. Willis wasn't even in Washington. Brooks finally voted for the bill. And Wheeler didn't vote at all.

All the other redhot isolationists lined up against the measure.

According to word reaching worried America First chiefs, Wheeler is disturbed over the type of elements forging to the front in the isolationist movement, particularly in local America First units. Close intimates say he was shocked by the groups he encountered at America First rallies during his recent trans-continental speaking junket.

The big hitch on Wheeler's switching over is his vendetta with Roosevelt. If a way could be found to bring the two together, the Montana Senator might take the leap and desert his present cronies. But getting the two men together is a big order, as feeling between them is very bitter. Wheeler has long hated Roosevelt and the feeling is heartily reciprocated.

—POLITICAL PRESSURE—

Behind the undercover wobbling of Brooks and Willis is plain political pressure. Both are under plenty of it in their states.

Brooks comes up for election next year and already several prominent Illinois Republicans are squaring off to run against him on his isolationism. One is Bill Blackett, Chicago business leader and former National Committeeman, who vigorously supported Wendell Willkie's militant demand that the GOP abandon its isolationism. Another is William F. Waugh, former Illinois American Legion Commander, who also has demanded united support behind Roosevelt's foreign policy.

Politicos close to Brooks say that the chief factor keeping him from bolting is the powerful Chicago Tribune.

This arch isolationist, Roosevelt-hating paper played a big role in Brooks's election and the inside political word is that he is fearful of bringing down its fury on his head.

Willis faces no campaign next year, but when he returned to Indiana recently he was startled by the change in sentiment on the foreign issue—particularly among Republican leaders after Willkie's fighting pronouncement.

The local boys told Willis that public opinion was veering strongly against isolationism and that Willkie's stock in Indiana was higher now than it had been even during the 1940 campaign.

The politicos advised Willis to watch his step and not get caught out on a limb on the foreign issue, as it would hurt the party's state ticket next year. What the Indiana Senator does remains to be seen, but meanwhile America First generalissimos are losing sleep.

Note: Republican insiders predict that it won't be long before Representative Joe Martin, smart National Chairman, will climb off the isolationist wagon and follow Willkie's lead on foreign policy.

—"PEPPER ENDORSES HITLER"!!—

At a formal reception in Washington, German newsman Kurt Sell was introduced to militant anti-isolationist Senator Claude Pepper of Florida. Onlookers held their breaths. But—they got along beautifully.

High point of the conversation was when Pepper paid a compliment to the German system. "The totalitarian system," he observed, "provides a certain discipline which is necessary in this machine age."

"You are right, Senator!" exclaimed Sell, and then added with a grin; "I think I should run out and send a news bulletin to Berlin — "Flash, Pepper endorses Hitler!"

—MRS. ROOSEVELT'S TAXES—

Next March, Mrs. Roosevelt will pay her largest income tax. Her income is higher, and so is the tax rate.

Principal new item is the $52,000 from her radio sponsors, the Pan American Coffee Bureau. The Bureau's seven coffee-producing countries have chipped in to pay the First Lady $2,000 for each weekly 15-minute broadcast for 26 weeks.

Actually, she will earn only half of this sum during this calendar year, the remainder in 1942. The tax on the $26,000 earned in 1941 will come to $17,330. This is based on the safe assumption that Mrs. Roosevelt's income is already in the $75,000 bracket, and thus the added radio income is taxed at a high rate.

Formerly, the entire revenue from Mrs. Roosevelt's radio broadcasts went to charity. The sponsor paid the entire amount direct to the Friends Service Committee and Mrs. Roosevelt never saw the check. But Congressman Ham Fish accused her of evading taxation, and now Mrs. Roosevelt deducts from the income whatever is necessary to meet taxes, and pays the balance to charity.

The result is—thanks to Ham Fish — that charity's share is far less, and the principal beneficiary is the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood — That's no gag about the wide and frantic search for suitable people to play in "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

As one of the refugees from a year's buffeting of the publicity blasts that accompanied David Selznick's big wind, which blew hot and cold on scores of candidates for the role of Scarlett O'Hara, I was skeptical about the extent of this new casting quest. The boys at Paramount left no trick unturned to keep the thing alive, and every train and plane apparently was bringing a few more potential Marias, Robert Jordans, Pilars and others of the Hemingway book.

Test cameras were supposed to be running day and night. Fans by the thousands wrote in to plug their favorites, from Paulette Goddard and Gary Cooper to Carol Landis and Nelson Eddy. There was the usual talk of unknown principals versus an all-star cast.

WOOD'S WORRIED

Most of this hoopla preceded the arrival of Sam Wood, who had been making "King's Row" over at Warners. He would direct "FWTBT", and he had been given the final say-so on cast and screen play. Now there'd be some action. After a week of no announcements, I dropped around to his bungalow office.

Under very trying circumstances, Mr. Wood previously has been a quiet, decisive and unruffled director. Today he is beginning to come apart at the seams. He paces and fidgets and talks a blue streak. And I mean "blue." I have a notion that certain persons in the motion picture industry have not been entirely co-operative in making certain players available to Mr. Wood, even if Mr. Wood were sure about whom he wanted.

One kindly thing he has done is to stop the indiscriminate screen-testing. "I think it's very unfair to make tests of people who are obviously unsuitable," he said. "You can be 95 per cent sure about a player just by seeing him and talking with him. A screen test ought to be used only for confirmation of almost certain judgment."

Then he showed me watercolor character sketches to illustrate his problem. Pilar is broad, tough, muscular, coarse, intelligent but ruthless enough to sanction the killing of her cowardly husband. Behind all this, though, must be the traces of a former charm and animal magnetism. I never have seen such a person in my life, let alone in Hollywood.

We don't want to go on living under priority controls for another half-generation. The way to avoid it is to go all-out now and finish it quickly.

There have been men in public life who quit being politicians to become statesmen before now.
—Ben Smith, Pekin, Ill., lawyer, after Rep. Everett Dirksen, Illinois Republican, switched to support administration foreign policy.

Although I am a Catholic and a foe of Communism, these forces of isolationism at the present time are a greater menace to American security than the Communists.

I see terrific hazards if our great road building program in the post defense period becomes synonymous with relief.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY PAUL MANNING
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

London—If Winston Churchill were to die, the King would ask Anthony Eden to take over and form a new cabinet. For Eden today is again the number two man of British politics.

Lord Beaverbrook has too many enemies in and out of government circles to advance much further. Ernest Bevin could develop into a political colossus when war ends, but signs indicate he will not.

The upper class conservatives tolerate Bevin because he represents the group upon which they must depend to win this war. But labor, while currently acknowledging Bevin as its champion, is today split, and when present emergency war laws are one day rescinded, the burly labor leader from Bristol will probably find that he, too, lacks a great political future.

So Anthony Eden is again the bright boy of British politics and today he unofficially admits that it feels good. It was in 1938 that he resigned his post as Foreign Secretary in disagreement with the Chamberlain faction over Mussolini and the Italian question and retired—at age 38—to the country with his wife Beatrice and their two sons. Since then he has been a disappointment to his many friends.

They could not understand his reluctance to head a new liberal party and were puzzled when he refused to accuse his former colleagues in the Cabinet, all members of the Conservative party, of diplomatic blundering and lack of vision. And they were angry when he bore the blame, as Foreign Secretary, for all that happened during that ill-fated period. Winston Churchill now says: "Eden was made to bear a good deal of discredit which properly rested on others."

—PARTY REGULARITY PAID DIVIDENDS

That's over now, and Eden's reluctance to kick over the party line has paid dividends. He has the unqualified support of the Conservative party, still the most potent backing a political figure in England can get.

And Winston Churchill, head of that Conservative party, has achnowledged this backing by drawing into his cabinet, first as War Minister, then as Foreign Secretary, the man they once labeled the "Beau Brummel of British politics."

The first thing Eden did when he became Foreign Secretary was to cut down the elaborate quarters at the Foreign Office which Lord Halifax had made into a combination eight-room office-apartment. He reduced the place to two rooms and turned the rest into small offices for key clerks.

He sleeps and works in these quarters and each day he follows about the same routine. A Foreign Office messenger, who acts as has valet, lays out his clothes, draws a tepid bath, then calls his chief at eight. Eden bathes, dresses, eats breakfast and then goes straight to his desk in another room. Until ten o'clock in the morning he pores over reports, dictates memos and code messages to the men of the foreign staff in the British embassy offices of the world.

At ten, he leaves for the customary Cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing. This gives him thirty minutes in which to walk through St. James park for the only exercise he gets, aside from an occasional game of tennis in the country.

After luncheon he's back in his office for an afternoon crowded with appointments. At no time does he keep a record of what is said during these interviews, but the last task he performs at the end of his official day is to dictate a resume of whatever occurred of importance.

He is usually to be found around the Churchill dinner table any evening, because that is when many knotty problems of the day's war effort can best be unraveled. The Prime Minister, Eden, and other key men of the inner circle talk far into the night, one o'clock sometimes, and that is when Eden's day often ends.

—BEAU BRUMMEL NO LONGER—

Two striking facts about the Eden of 1941 is his appearance of care-worn age and the clothes he wares. His face has the lines you get from overwork, mediocre health and worry.

The youthful freshness which was his during the years preceding 1938 has gone and today, across a dinner table, you see a man who has aged tremendously.

But he still retains his smartness of dress, not because of an extensive wardrobe, but because he is the male type who wears any suit well. His clothes today are far different than they were five years ago.

He pays approximately fifty dollars for a suit and once he has worn it he never gives it a second thought, except to wear it as much as possible.

At one recent London luncheon, his overcoat showed frayed edges, and the two-tone shoes, which didn't match the clothes he was wearing, would have broken the heart of any Saville Row tailor.

This rather pleases his wife Beatrice Eden, because she believes he received too much publicity at one time as the Beau Brummel of politics. Anything he does now to dispel that idea is all for the good. Incidentally, she takes no interest in what he wears, never advising him on the purchase of a new suit.

SLOW

Don't rush the corners!

To wait another does not take
The third part of the night!

Make the turn ahead,
You batter down a footman
And turn the pavement red.

Slow! When traffic is heavy
Use double parts of care,
Do not use the mighty power
Your motor has to spare.

No new dates have yet been set for the hearings of Peter Dart, 321½ South Ninth street, and Willie Courier, 1516 Washington avenue, who are charged with negligent homicide, the result of motor accidents here October 18 and 19 which took the lives of three Escanaba men.

The Dart hearing was to have been held yesterday but because of the illness of Prosecuting Attorney Clyde McGonagle, who is confined to his home with a severe cold, was postponed.

Courier's hearing opened Monday morning and was postponed after two wtinesses had testified.

Motor car bodies of plastic materials with rubber fenders are now being studied by manufacturers.

SAFETY IN NUMBERS

"In unity there is strength." Nearly fifty thousand sound-thinking Michigan Farmers have chosen State Mutual for their fire protection. Financial strength, sound management, liberality and square dealings are the reasons. Let us explain the difference to you.

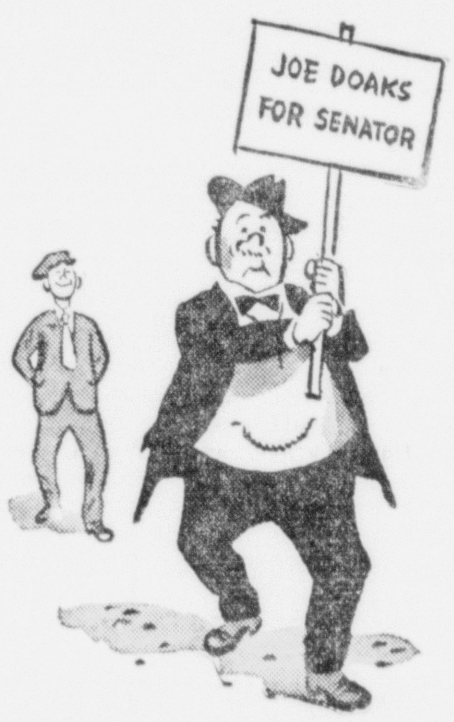
It won by a Landslide!



1 - A small beginning

When IMPERIAL started out, we knew we had a whiskey with plenty to offer. We felt that a blend with such remarkable aroma, such a delicate, subtle flavor, such super smoothness would soon make a name for itself.

2 - A big following!

Folks took to IMPERIAL at once! In Boston, Buffalo, Detroit, New York City —everywhere it was introduced, it was soon whizzing to record heights. Take Michigan—in one short year IMPERIAL leaped to the lead over all 332 other brands in the state.

3 - A bigger following!

Today, IMPERIAL is the fastest-growing whiskey in America—and it's going like sixty right here in town! Try it, mister. For downright deliciousness it tops anything you ever tasted!

Great—for two big reasons!

- "Flavor-Peaked" Base Whiskies! This superb American blend has that expensive, "imported whiskey" flavor because its foundation whiskies are especially distilled to give them individual qualities—then blended together to a delicate "flavor peak."
- "Velveted" Spirits! Choice spirits actually made in the same stills as the rare base whiskies are then "velveted" by a method similar to the softening of spirits used in making fine Scotch.

Grand Marais

Grand Marais, Mich.—Vernon Bleckiner, recently discharged from St. Mary's hospital, Marquette, is recuperating at his home here.

The Misses Clara Teders, Helen Dahl and Patricia VanGordon, motored to Duluth, Minnesota, over the week end. Miss Teders and Miss Dahl visited relatives there.

Mrs. Parmer Masse has returned from Marquette where she was a patient at St. Mary's hospital for the past month.

Scout Party

The Girl Scout troop gathered at the home of Scout Mary Ann Hill on Friday evening for an old-fashioned Hallowe'en party. The rooms were decorated with pumpkins and witches and real live ghosts and goblins could be found in every dark corner. Games, contests, music and dancing were the order of the evening followed by a delicious lunch. Costume prizes were won by the following: spookiest costume-troop council member. Mrs. Isadore Roberts; funniest costume—Donna Roberts; cutest costume—Anna Jean Sayen; most original costume—Beatrice Kane.

Scouts members attending the party were: Bannie Radcliff, Anna Jean Sayen, Gladys and Anna Lundquist, Dorothy Peterson, Donna Roberts, Ethel Touzel, Beatrice Kane, June Hella, Lilly Propst, Faye Mulligan, Mary Tellier and Jean Nettleton. Guests of honor were troop council members Mesdames I. Hill, F. Carter, I. Roberts, R. Block and Carl Johnson.

Arrangements for the party were made by Scouts Mary Ann Hill and Bonnie Radcliff.

Expands Music Program

Supt. Wells has announced that music in the Grand Marais school system has reached full maturity since being placed in an equal credit basis with traditional academic subjects. One full credit is offered to students who elect both band and choir. This means five rehearsals a week during the 6th period of the school schedule. Band meets three times a week and choir twice. Any student who elects one music project either band or choir, will receive a half credit if he successfully meets requirements.

Another innovation which is working out successfully is the rotational plan of giving weekly class instruction in instrument playing. A lesson schedule is set up which rotates by moving each lesson down one period each week. This has been achieved through the cooperation of the teachers of the academic subjects and Mr. Johnson, the principal, who allows the instrumental students to leave their classrooms for their lessons. No hardship is experienced by either student or teacher since a student leaves the same classroom only once in every four weeks.

Mr. Koljonen, the music supervisor, reports that both choir and band are hard at work on Christmas music and on material for a full evening concert. Other engagements include music for the Lions Club, Senior Play, Basketball games, and various other activities.

Succeeds Flanders

T. M. CASSIDY

(Daily Press Photo)

T. M. Cassidy, former C&NW superintendent of the Northern Iowa division of the North Western railroad, will succeed G. Z. Flanders, retired, as superintendent of the Peninsula division and has already assumed his new duties here.

Cassidy was employed by the North Western in 1900 as a telegrapher and in 1905 was promoted to train dispatcher. In 1929 he was made trainmaster at Baraboo, Wis., and in 1932, trainmaster of the Wisconsin division of the railway.

He is a native of Eyota, Minn.

Nautical Custom

Nineteenth century sailors were permitted by tradition of the sea to place one foot on the table after mess if they had rounded Cape Horn. Both feet were put up by those who had crossed the Arctic Circle.

Unlike most other mammals, whales cannot change their facial expressions.

4 CCC CAMPS TO BE CLOSED

Conservation Department Protests Decision

The state department of conservation has filed an appeal with U. S. Forest Service officials in Milwaukee, protesting closing of the Escanaba River, Houghton Lake, Pigeon River and Fox CCC camps, P. J. Hoffmaster, conservation department director has announced. The department is asking reconsideration of the order to cause closing of but two instead of four camps.

Proposed abandonment of the four camps leaves only Cusino, Higgins Lake, Paradise and Wolverine camps of the original 42 CCC camps operating in state parks and forests in 1933 and 1934, and would seriously curtail several conservation department construction and improvement projects.

Staff conferences are being held to determine which projects now underway may be continued and which will have to be dropped. In several instances, large supplies of material are on hand. The conservation department's dam construction work, part of an expanding water-level control program, is expected to suffer considerably from loss of the four camps. Work is underway on such structures at Reedsburg, Grass Lake and Felch.

Other projects which may be affected by abandonment of the camps include: Grand Marais-Paradise road construction, Marquette regional headquarters improvements, Wilson state park camp grounds and park area development, game studies, boundary surveys, truck trail construction, tree planting and the usual maintenance work.

Nimekus Plunges To Death From Top Floor Of Hospital

Martin Nimekus, 63 year old county infirmary inmate who had been a patient at St. Francis hospital here since October 11 when he tried to end his life by striking a knife blade into his head and slashing both his arms, plunged to his death from a room on the fourth floor of the hospital about 8:15 yesterday morning.

Though Nimekus had made a complete recovery from his injuries, he had been despondent and hosptial attendants had placed him in a room where he could be observed. Nimekus, however, on a pretext, went into an adjoining vacant room and from the window there threw himself to the concrete courtyard below. He died within ten minutes.

The former woodsman was to have had a sanity hearing today.

The only explanation Nimekus had given for his first attempt to destroy himself was that he had "suddenly got a funny feeling in his head." Physicians had expressed amazement at the 63 year old man's rapid recovery from the injury he inflicted by pounding a two and a half inch knife blade into the center of his skull with a bit of building brick.

Nimekus had no known relatives in this country and only meager details of his life are known. Acquaintances of his claim that he was a graduate of a Russian universtiy in Moscow and at one time had served as an officer in the czar's army.

The body was taken to the Degnan Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

Boulder Dam is higher than Grand Coulee Dam, but the latter is nearly four times longer and has nearly 50 per cent greater capacity.

HAM POTATO SUPPER DISH

Use enough hot mashed potatoes to nearly fill baking dish. Season highly and add ¼ pound finely chopped cooked ham; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, ½ onion, chopped.

Beat until very light and bake in buttered casserole until brown crust begins to form. Then make indentations in top with spoon and drop in as many eggs as are needed. Bake until eggs are set.

There are nearly 1500 doctors among the European refugees now in England.

ASS'N TO PACK MUCH HERRING

About a Million Pounds From Lake Superior To Be Handled

The Wisconsin-Michigan Smelt association, which has been engaged in the cooperative marketing of smelt the last two years, will expand its operations to include the handling of herring, Arthur P. Jensen, Escanaba, president of the association, announced yesterday.

The association has leased a packing shed at Chassell, and will start next week to buy and pack herring caught by Lake Superior fishermen. The association plans to sell about a half million pounds of the fish to mink farms in Upper Michigan and Wisconsin, and will also ship 300,000 pounds to Escanaba and Marinette, where the herring will be dressed, packed in 15-pound boxes and placed in cold storage. Marketing of the frozen fish will be started about two months later.

Last spring, the association packed 600,000 pounds of smelt in 10-pound boxes, later placing them in cold storage at Green Bay, Depere and Milwaukee. The supply was exhausted last week. The group plans to pack a large amount of smelt next spring.

Officers of the Wisconsin-Michigan Smelt association are: President, Arthur P. Jensen, Escanaba; vice president, O. A. Angwall, Marinette; secretary, B. A. Griffin, Milwaukee; and treasurer, Wm. Warmington.

BANQUET HELD FOR FLANDERS

Retiring Superintendent Highly Praised By Speakers

One hundred and thirty friends of Guy Z. Flanders, retiring superintendent of the Peninsula division of the Chicago and North Western railway, attended a banquet held in his honor at the Delta hotel last evening. They were officials of the Chicago and North Western railway from Chicago, employes of the railway throughout the Peninsula division, large shippers, and business and professional men of Escanaba, and some officials of other railroads.

High tribute was paid to Mr. Flanders as a transportation executive, friend and citizen in a number of informal talks given by representatives of the railroad and the community. On behalf of the dinner guests, D. B. McIntyre, formerly of Escanaba and now division superintendent at Antigo, Wis., presented Mr. Flanders with a radio as a token of their esteem.

Streamliner Coming

One of the highlights of the meeting was the announcement by L. L. White, Chicago, chief operating officer, that the new streamliner train would be put into operation between Chicago and Ishpeming sometime between Dec. 1 and 15. Mr. White said that coaches for the fast train had already been received from the manufacturers, and that other equipment was expected shortly. The importance of the North Western railway as an industry here was also pointed out by Mr. White, who said that the payroll at Escanaba 'approximates one million dollars anually.

Mr. McIntyre, who began working with Mr. Flanders on the Chicago and North Western railway in Chicago in October, 1900, and also served as his assistant here for several years, told of some amusing early day experiences. An account of a baseball game between the Wisconsin and Galena divisions at Lincoln park Chicago, in which Mr. Flanders and he played, provoked much mirth among the guests.

Other speakers were: Geo, N. Harder, general manager of the Escanaba and Lake Superior railway and the I. Stephenson company; Mayor S. R. Wickman, Secretary Harold P. Lindsay of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Flanders.

Wm. Warmington acted as toastmaster, and Rev. Karl J. Hammar gave the invocation. Congratulatory letters and telegrams from R. L. Williams, chief executive officer; F. J. Byington, general manager, eastern division; and others were read by the toastmaster.

Outsiders Attend

Others introduced at the banquet were B. B. Kulp, Chicago, chief engineer, North Western railway; A. Syverson, Marquette, general manager, Lake Superior and Ishpeming railway; H. Schmidt, Marquette, superintendent, Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railway; A. C. Peterson, Gladstone, superintendent, Soo Line railway; E. H. Streedie, manager, Kimberly Clark company, Niagara; J. Sarafiny, traffic manager, Kimberly Clark company; P. V. Thielander, division engineer, Chicago and North Western railway, Escanaba; David Nee, former foreman of engines; F. T. Dr. Towey Attends T. B. Conference

Representing Pinecrest Sanatorium at Powers at the 34th annual meeting of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in Grand Rapids on Monday and Tuesday was Dr. J. W. Towey.

To give impetus to the 1941 Christmas seal sale, the meeting pointed up the added demands which the present world crisis makes on tuberculosis associations. Because tuberculosis has always increased in times of war, state and national health leaders are planning ahead to try to maintain the measure of tuberculosis control which has been gained over the past 35 years.

To do this adequate funds must be provided by the Christmas seal sale, the tuberculosis association's sole means of support. Slogan of the 1941 seal sale, which is scheduled to open Nov. 24, is "Protect Your Home From Tuberculosis."

In the opening session of the meeting Dr. George A. Sherman, director of the Bureau of Tuberculosis Control of the State Department of Health, warned delegates that Michigan's tuberculosis problem is still a serious one—last year 6,063 new cases were reported.

Wednesday Recreational Dances Only For Adults

Effective next week, only men and women over twenty-one and a few specially approved younger guests will be admitted to the regular Old Time dances at the city recreational center, supervisors announced last Wednesday night at the dance.

Bevier Butts, city recreational director, who made the announcement, said that the Wednesday night dances are primarily for the benefit of the adults while Tuesdays and Thursdays social sessions are for the younger people. However, a few of the younger people have been coming since the dances have been conducted, he continued, and have proven to be fine mixers and an asset to the dance. Although very few young people will be admitted, they will have a chance to make application to a committee of five and if approved by that committee will receive special admission cards. The committee will be composed of John Peterson, Mrs. Amanda LeDuc, Mrs. Otto Schreibner, Elmer Dahn and Art Peterson. The committee's decision is final.

Application blanks may be obtained at the city recreation center after four o'clock to-day and may be returned to Art Peterson or Elmer Dahn, WPA recreational leaders, at any time. In his announcement, Butts discouraged youngsters from making application except in special cases where they felt they were entitled to attend and would be wanted by the older people.

By order of the state WPA office, which is in accord with policies approved by state officials of the musicians' union, the Delta county WPA community dance orchestra was again on the job Wednesday night and will play regularly for the dances in the future.

Rugby football was played in American colleges as early as 1800, but as a simple campus sport, and scores were made by kicking the ball over the goal.

New Garden Well Has Heavy Flow

Garden, Mich.—A large flow of water was struck at a depth of 250 feet at the new village well, being drilled by Tom Rice and Sons of Escanaba.

The drillers have been engaged for several weeks in drilling the well, and encountered many difficulties. On Thursday, however, a heavy flow of water was tapped. The six-inch pipe is standing 16 feet above the ground, and the water is gushing out about four inches over the casing.

A rivulet now flows from he well to Garden creek, and many people have been attracted by the sight.

Simplicity Marks Fall Decorations

BY MARGARET KERNODLE
AP Fature Service Writer

If moving to a new apartment or fall cleaning has you in the mood for new furnishings, here are some furniture facts for fall, 1941.

Four furniture fashions come forward: American Federal, Pennsylvania Dutch, Chinese influence and Modern—manufacturers call it mature modern.

These are not pushing other periods out but rather are making re-decoration or additional decoration simpler because they are easy to combine with what you have.

Federal for Patriotic Colors

American Federal fosters quilted and embroidered fabrics, framed mirrors, patriotic colors or pale pastels for walls, designs of lyres, acanthus leaves, star and eagle, tables with tripod base, scenic wallpaper, colonial cabinets.

Pennsylvania Dutch dotes on bright decorations with fruits, tulips, hearts, angels, stars for hanging shelves, chairs, cupboards; harps on homey harmonizing of gay with a primitively plain quality to things like glassware. It's good with maple.

Chinese Helps Mahogany

Chinese chic comes into rooms decorated to play up traditional mahogany, and is especially strong in accessories such as trays, tea caddies, matting for floor coverings, wall hanging or table mats (have you tried tinting them?). These go with traditional or modern mahogany, even unit pieces.

Modern moves in with periods like English Provincial and Early American, especially for the home that you must find furniture for in a hurry, for the country cottage and the budget apartment. Some stores show parades of Persian colors with it, much American Indian craft. The effect is expected to be a homespun cosiness.

Don't forget the government is asking furniture folk for restricted types and simplified designs. Plan the bulk of your furnishings along plain lines.

Beef liver, dried apricots, eggs, oatmeal and molasses are excellent sources of iron.

Today's Recipes

The Thanksgiving season is not so very far away and if your thinking about the stuffing for the big bird, you will welcome Mrs. W. L. O'Connor's recipe for dressing.

Chicken or Turkey Dressing

One-half pound stale bread. Soak in water until soft and squeeze dry.

One and one-half cups diced celery, leaves may be used

One-half cup finely chopped onion

Four tablespoons chopped parsley

Two tablespoons butter

One and one-half teaspoons salt

One and one-half teaspoons poultry seasoning.

Two whole eggs

Dash of pepper

Melt butter in frying pan and add onion celery, parsley, salt and pepper. Fry until tender but not brown. Add to bread and lastly add eggs.

FOR WATER SPOTS

To remove water spots and rings from garments, hold the spotted portions over steam coming from the spout of a tea kettle. Move the spot about until it is moist, shake it dry in the air and lightly press on the wrong side.

How to make Pillsbury's Ham-Veal Supper Pie appetite appeal for a whole square meal

Easy Pillsbury Recipe:

1. Sift and measure 2 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour; add ¾ tsp. baking powder and 1 tsp. salt; sift twice. (Enrichment of Pillsbury's Best in no way affects flavor or baking quality, but adds two B-vitamins and iron your family needs every day.) 2. Cut in ⅝ c. shortening until quite fine; add ⅓ c. grated nippy cheese; mix well. 3. Add 4 to 6 Tbsps. cold water gradually, until dough is moist enough to hold together. 4. Roll ½ of dough for bottom; place in 9-in. pie pan. 5. Pan-fry ¼ c. chopped onion and ¼ c. chopped green pepper in 2 Tbsps. butter; mix with 1½ c. (¾ lb.) each of ground cooked ham and veal. 6. Combine and add 1¼ c. condensed tomato soup, ½ c. milk, ¾ c. fine dry bread crumbs, 2 eggs, unbeaten, ¼ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper. Blend well. Turn into pan. 7. Roll rest of pastry to ⅛-in. thickness. Cut into 12 diamond-shaped pieces. Arrange as illustrated; seal to bottom crust; trim edge. 8. Place pineapple slices on top; brush with melted butter. (Wait till you taste that tender, flaky, melt-in-your-mouth pastry! . . . hear the "Ohs!" and "Ahs!" around your table! Then you'll KNOW why it pays to use the flour that's bake-proved for your protection. Each hour during milling, samples of Pillsbury's Best are tested for creamy-white color . . . baking quality you can be sure of. Moreover, actual baking tests are made four to six times daily!) 9. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) for about 20 min. Cut in wedge-shaped pieces; serve with hot tomato sauce. Pillsbury's Best is more than just flour—it's the backbone of all your baking, an ALL-PURPOSE flour you can rely on every time you use it! In golden biscuits, in bread, luscious pies, or tender cakes, Pillsbury's Best helps you bake the kind of foods you're proud of!

Christian Science Churches

"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 2.

The Golden Text (Proverbs 14:34) is: "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matthew 12:36,37): "But I say unto you, That every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 405): "Christian Science commands man to master the propensities, to hold hatred in abeyance with kindness, to conquer lust with chastity, revenge with charity, and to overcome deceit with honesty."

QUICK LUNCHEON DISH

Make a good curry sauce and serve over cooked shrimp. Canned shrimp will do if you haven't the fresh boiled ones. It's nice with rice and a green garden salad.

ERIC: That's what I've been trying to tell you. This is delicious, but I like weak coffee.

FRED: O. K.—then try this. It's M. J. B. made strong.

ERIC: Dashed if you're not right! It's simply ripping this way too.

FRED: Good thing you're not really a butler, Eric. You couldn't get a job in this town if you didn't know you can't make a bad cup of M. J. B.

The sixth and seventh grades held a Hallowe'en party in their room on Tuesday evening with their teacher, Robert Maigetter. Following games they enjoyed a lunch of sandwiches, salad, cake and pop.

Athletic Meeting

The boys and girls of the High school who will play basketball, held a meeting at the school Monday to plan for a party to be held in the Community building Saturday night, the proceeds from which will be used to buy suits for the girls.

School Board Meeting

The Board of Education held the regular monthly meeting in the High school Monday evening and invited the public to attend. George Boudreau sr., president, took charge and also present were Walter Stellwagen, Secretary, and Ossie Hazen and James Tatrow, trustees. The treasurer, Napoleon Boudreau was absent. The several bills were presented by the secretary as the first business and these were O. K'd for payment. Among these was the one for the new well which has been drilled down for 154 feet, the cost being over 400 dollars. A donation of five dollars was given to purchase a stove for the hot-lunch kitchen, the Village and Township boards paying a like sum. The usaul light, coal, printing bills, etc., were taken care of. The board also assumed the cost of sending high school students to the Older Girls' and Older Boys' Conferences.

The meeting was then thrown open for discussion from the floor. Several Isabella residents including Mrs. Bert Peterson, Mrs. Ruth Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Guinn, Mr. Sundin and Mrs. Neadow were in attendance and Mr. Guinn spoke for the delegation. They wished some arrangements to be made so that the Kindergarten and first grade pupils would not have to be away from home for the nine hours that the present system made necessary. Frank G. Tebo suggested that these grades attend only for half day, which would necessitate the bus making a trip over there at midday.

The president exhibited plans which had been purchased in 1938 for a new school and which had been laid away because of inability to raise the taxes to retire the bonds. A discussion followed of ways and means, but the same conclusion was reached.

Ray E. Ranguette explained the status of the present teaching staff with reference to an accredited school.

Complaint was made that pure drinking water had not been provided for the lower grades which was explained away by the fact that the water was not yet clear after the recent drilling.

As no other matters were forthcoming, the president adjourned the meeting with an invitation to the public to attend all meetings hereafter as they will be held in the public library building.

Attend Funeral Of Nephew Fatally Hurt In Jump from Stairs

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Sabourin and family of Gladstone and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schram and son, Paul, of Rapid River, have returned to their homes after attending funeral services for their nephew, Dickie Johnson, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of Newberry. Dickie was injured last Thursday when he jumped from a stairway at school and fractured his skull. He passed away Saturday at the Newberry Clinic.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at St. Gregory's Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Francis Scheringer officiating. Burial was in the Newberry cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson is a former resident of Rapid River.

B. GABRIELSON AUXILIARY HEAD

Coast Guard Unit Names New Staff for 1941-42

Bill Gabrielson was elected commander of the Gladstone Coast Guard Auxiliary at the annual election held during a joint meeting of the Auxiliary and the Gladstone Yacht club Wednesday evening. He succeeds William Noreus to the office.

Other officers selected were Clarence Royer, vice-commander and George Minne, junior commander.

Boatswain M. E. Rhea of the U. S. Coast Guard station, Sheboygan, Wis., was present and started the fall and winter series of instruction classes.

The first session was on navigation and proper use of charts.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Morris Riley has returned here after spending several weeks at Lansing.

WHAT CAUSES YOUR CONSTIPATION?

Many people look upon constipation as just a failure of regular bowel movement. Yet, so varied are its causes that often your needs may be for something more than just an old-fashioned "flush-out" laxative.

Try Carter's Little Liver Pills . . . they are a laxative and more. Not only do they aid in the relief of constipation with its sour irritability and discomfort, but they also help wake up a better flow of one of our own most vital digestive juices—the bile. Thus besides helping to bring on regularity they aid in digesting our food promptly and properly.

So the next time you are bogged down and suffering from inner sluggishness—try the laxative with the plus value—try Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. See the difference for yourself. See how good—how glad-to-be-alive you may feel tomorrow morning. All druggists 10¢ and 25¢.

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gainers were plentiful in today's stock market, but there were just as many laggards and the trend stalemate remained unbroken.

Steels were aided to some extent by the truce in the captive coal mine strike and rails were buoyed by mounting revenues and a less than seasonal decline in last week's freight loadings. Good earnings statements again were numerous and there was an assortment of favorable dividends.

Persistent restraints, however, were seen in the still far from clear labor picture, tax worries and the lack of any really stimulating news from the war.

Inflation psychology was chilled a bit by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's comments on nearby steep increases in social security taxes "to mop up the extra money in people's pockets for which there will be no goods to buy."

Amusement company issues were given a lift on word part of moving picture profits blocked in England would be released to United States producers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 40.8. Transfers totalled 550,860 shares, against 552,350 yesterday.

Bethlehem Steel was up 5-8 on the day and directors, after the close, voted a dividend of $1.50 on the common and announced third quarter net of $2.10 a share, compared with $1.34 in the second three months and $3.63 in the third quarter last year. A sharp jump in taxes accounted for the disparity with 1940.

U. S. Steel was up ½ and Inland Steel 1. Loew's reached a new high for 1941 and other advancers included Universal Pictures preferred, up 5; Paramount Pictures, Warner Bros., Pepsi-Cola, Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville & Nashville (up 3¼), Santa Fe, Westinghouse and Dow Chemical.

Lima Locomotive ran up 2¼ on declaration of a dividend of 4 per cent in stock and $1 cash. It was the first disbursement on the common since December, 1937.

In the losing column were General Motors, Chrysler, Texas Corp., Woolworth, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Du Pont, Johns-Manville and Eastman Kodak. Commonwealth Edison, General Electric and American Tobacco "B" touched new lows for the year but Amercian Tobacco common came back for a modest gain.

Acquiring plus signs in the curb were Bell Aircraft, Cessna Aircraft, Brewster Aero, Phoenix Securities and American Export Lines.

FISHERMEN FINED

Newberry—Conservation headquarters today reported the arrest and fine of Con Becker of St. Ignace, Clifford Becker and Barney Lesly of Gould City on charges of possession of rainbow.

Con Becker paid a fine of $100 and costs, while fines of $5 and costs were paid by the other two men, officers said. Arraignment was in the court of Justice Bernard LaDuke of St. Ignace.

The arrest was made by two officers at 6:00 a. m. Friday after they had lain in wait five hours at the mouth of Black River. One of the officers, out on game patrol at midnight Thursday, saw the men set nets at the mouth of the river, and drove away to summon another officer to assist in the arrest. He said at 6:00 a. m. Friday the three men returned, used a boat to lift the net and were caught while lifting rainbow from the net.

STATE GRANGERS SING

Sault Ste. Marie—State grangers sang lustily and tunefully Tuesday night at the high school auditorium to prove that music plays a major role in the lives of rural people.

The "Song Fest" was an annual and unusaul competition. Everybody won a prize. Singers and orchestra were rated "A" or "B" according to their ability, and the music of choruses and quartets ranged from typical songs beloved by rural America to more classical selections.

Two "A" ratings were awarded by the judges, and these included the Rosedale-Donaldson octet, and the Emmet county Grange chorus of 22 voices. Other groups received "B" ratings.

Five Chippewa Grange musical organizations appeared on the program, and three of the contestants were from below the Straits.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—Wet weather, delaying the already late corn and soybean harvest, caused prices of these commodities to advance today. The trade had reports of crop damage in some areas.

Good demand for corn to be shipped from Chicago and expectations that the 1941 loan rate will be announced soon also stimulated buying of that grain.

Wheat, however, retreated, after trying to extend the recent recovery with early gains of about a cent a bushel. Late profit-taking erased early gains and wheat closed ¼ to 3-4 cent lower than yesterday, December $1.14 1-8 to $1.14, May $1.19¼ to $1.19 1-8. Rye also lost early gains of a cent and closed unchanged.

Corn was up a full cent at one stage and closed ¼ to 3-4 higher than yesterday, December 77 to 77 1-8, May 83 1-8 to 83¼. Soybeans showed gains of about three cents but these were pared later due to profit taking and prices finished ½ to 1 3-4 net higher, December $1.61. Oats were ¼ to 3-8 up. Lard closed 10 cents per hundredweight higher, borrowing strength from corn, hogs and soybeans.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—The bond market underwent a cooling-off period today after showing outstanding strength in high-priced issues in the two preceding sessions.

Price changes in the main groups were narrow as a rule, although there were numerous individual firm spots. Volume slackened a trifle with total turnover at $7,118,800, par value, compared with $7,498,400 Wednesday.

Nearly a dozen different bonds of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad attracted wide buying interest with all ending in the plus column for gains of 1-8 to a full point. The road has been doing exceptionally well in the matter of earnings in recent months.

Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, depressed nearly 3 points in the preceding session, recouped 1¾ points of the loss, endingf at 102¼ on sales of $128,000. The 5s of '52 gained 1 5-8 to close at 102 1-8 on sales of $177,000.

Others ahead included Delaware & Hudson 4s, St. Paul 5s, Erie 4½s and Southern Railway 4s.

U. S. governments, like the high-priced corporates, fell back into a slightly uneven rut on both the stock exchange and over the counter, but trading was less active than when prices were rising earlier in the week.

Great Consolidated Electric Power of Japan 6½s gained 5 points at 86 but Tokyo Electric Power 6s were off 1¾ at 37¾. Argentine 4s and some other South Americans were up.

May Use Unwanted Silver For Bars In Power Plants

MAR USE UNWANTED FOR—

BY CARTER FIELD

Washington—Ever put a silver teaspoon in a glass when you were going to pour hot water in it? So the glass wouldn't crack?

A copper spoon would have done almost as well. Both silver and copper are excellent conductors of heat—and of electricity.

Carter Field

But there is a shortage of copper for national defense purposes. So in the interest of national defense it is now being proposed to use silver instead of copper for a good many purposes, one of which is bars in power houses.

No one has ever thought of doing it before, for abvious reasons. Copper sells around 15 cents a pound. Silver is worth more than 40 cents an ounce.

Surplus of Silver

But we have plenty of silver, more than we know what to do with. It is a drug on the market. It is worse than that. It is a political problem, with an active bloc in Congress declaring the government MUST put the price of silver up so the mine owners and mine workers in their states can have prosperity.

Nobody WANTS the silver they are mining—not enough to pay what it costs to dig it out—plus a profit. But the government has been paying a bonus price on domestically-mined silver ever since 1933.

Once it has bought the silver the government cannot SELL it again. That would tend to push the price of silver down, and the silver State politicians would never stand for that. So the government has been holding the silver, holding it at great expense. Not only is there the loss of interest on the money so invested, but the cost of storage space—and guards. Thieves like silver.

So, looking around for a substitute for copper, some government dollar a year man suddenly wondered about silver. They could BORROW it from the government, and use it in place of copper. When the emergency is over, it could be returned to the government again, with no harm done worth mentioning.

Every Ship Needed

By that time, with peace here again, copper can be brought cheaply from Chile and South Africa, if we are unable to supply our needs with domestic production. At present we need every available ship to carry war supplies to Britain, and Russia. We will continue to need every ship that can be spared and built, so long as the was lasts. We can spare no ships for hauling copper that long trip up across the equator.

"But people will steal the silver from defense plants," one government offical protested, when the idea was broached.

"The first place we plan to use silver is for bars in power plants," said a defense dollar a year man, smiling. "If anybody put a hand on THAT silver it will just be too bad. Certainly the government will be put to no expense trying to convict him, though it may have to bury him."

To the outsider, flabbergasted for eight years by the hundreds of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money "invested" by the government in unwanted silver, this looks like it would be the first intelligent development with respect to the white metal.

● SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Two murders at Paradise Lake renew the old romance between school teacher Mary O'Connor, vacationing there with her mother, Maudie, and reporter Dennis Flynn, sent down from the city to cover the story. Police are convinced sophisticated Herbert Cord was killed by gangster Stush Veretti, although Cord's death at first implicated Jeanie Morris, whom he had courted for two summers only to bring Margie Dixon to Paradise this year as his fiancee. Second mysterious death was that of Miss Millie Morris, Jeanie's stern spinster aunt, who kept locked in her heart the secret of a girlhood romance with someone who signed his letters "Kit." Other characters in the story are Liza Holmes, Miss Millie's maid who stays on with Jeanie; elderly innkeeper Chris Gordon; local editor Tod Palmer, in love with Jeanie. Tod, Mary, Jeanie, and Dennis spend a pleasant evening in the city. The next day a third death deepens the mystery. Jeanie and Mary find Liza's body hanging in the attic of the Morris home. Suicide?

WHAT OF TOMORROW?
CHAPTER XXII

It was an undiplomatic question to ask and the doctor was obviously glad when Officer Antler came in. But I had a hunch the doctor had made up his mind as to the answer even before he made the official autopsy in his role as coroner.

The law was in charge now and so the questioning began. I'm quite sure John Antler would have liked to put me in my place several times, but I wanted to be the first one to start, and since I had seen Liza Holmes up there and Jeanie hadn't, it seemed only right I should begin.

I told them all I could, starting back with our trip to town the day before. It made it easier for Jeanie when it was her turn, not that there was any reason why one should not help her.

"You didn't look to see if she was in her room last night, then?" he asked, and she repeated that she hadn't. She also told again that Liza Holmes had had no worries that she knew about, and that she hadn't seemed unusual except that she grieved for Miss Millie in her silent, tight-lipped fashion.

We didn't stay there much longer. The doctor said there were things to do up in the attic and if I wanted to take Jeanie home with me we could leave any time.

"I'll lock up and bring the key. Might be just as well if you stayed some place else tonight—not here."

Tod had arrived at our house before we got out of the car which a police officer had turned into a taxi for our benefit. Tod had heard the news that Liza was dead and his first thought had been to have someone to stay with Jeanie. Maudie told him I was already at the Morris home and then, after he had admitted there was more excitement over there, she had buttonholed him. I think he was almost as glad to get out of her clutches as he was to see Jeanie.

* * *

I managed to get Maudie in the kitchen away from them with the promise to tell her everything.

"Suicide," she snorted. "I don't believe that and you don't expect me to because you don't believe it yourself."

"Well, I saw her hanging there with a rope around her neck," I said. "And it wasn't a pretty sight, either."

"Have you notified Denny?" was her only answer to that one.

I hadn't, but Tod Palmer had, and Denny was with us for dinner that evening. "Three times and out, you know. You girls have presented this lovely, restful community with three dead persons. Don't you think that's a pretty good summer's work? Why don't you go home now. Go home and rest up."

He was grinning, but the way he held my hands didn't make me feel he was fooling. His hands trembled and in back of that grin I sensed fear, and I'd never known Denny to show fear. If it hadn't been for Maudie I think I'd have packed our things right then and headed for town. But Maudie said it was apparent we were the only observant ones around there.

"Maybe before the police are through they'll give credit where credit's due. They should vote us honorary members of the force," she said.

"Maybe they'll give you a gun to carry," Denny said quietly. "I'll speak to Antler about it."

"Oh, indeed." Maudie looked over the top of her glasses at him. "The time we might have needed a gun was after the first or second murder. This is just a suicide, so why should we need a gun now? It is suicide, isn't it." Her naivete didn't fool Denny or me.

* * *

Tod Palmer's old jaloppy stopped in front of the house and he came in. "She's asleep," I said, nodding to the bedroom where we had put Jeanie, who was now relaxed under the influence of one of the white powders Dr. Orway had left me for my nerves.

"What did they decide?" Denny asked.

Tod's solemn face was stern. "Murder," he said, and the word didn't come as a shock. "She was dead before she was put up in the attic. Under the rope there were marks. She'd been choked to death."

"What are they doing now?" Denny was already reaching for his hat.

"The usual things: looking for fingerprints, trying to find out where the rope came from, who was around the house last night, and who was the last one to see the old lady alive."

"How long had she—?" Maudie began, and Tod hesitated.

"Doc says at least eight hours—maybe longer."

"Why, it must have happened just before Jeanie went in," I said, horrified. "What if the murderer was still there? She might have been—"

"Yes," Denny said. "She might have been number four."

"Are they going to start torturing the poor child again?" It was Maudie, and her question left me a little sick. I saw what she meant. If Liza Holmes had been dead at least eight hours and we found her in the morning about 11, then she could have been killed after midnight; after 1 o'clock even, and it had been that late when we left Jeanie.

* * *

Her one-time sweetheart, her aunt, her housekeeper—all dead. Tod had given her an alibi for her whereabouts at the time of Cord's death; Liza had sworn she knew the girl was in the house when Miss Millie met her death in the rowboat, and we could testify she had been with us until 1 a. m. But with three murders—three people so intimately associated with her, those three alibis that a smart lawyer could blast holes in, didn't look so strong. I hated to think of tomorrow. I could see Tod felt the same.

Maudie was the only one who didn't look as though she might be ready to lose her dinner. She was looking out over the lake absently scratching Finn McCool's well-filled tummy.

"I suppose the numbers boys took care of poor Liza Holmes, too," she said to no one in particular.

Denny got up from the table and slapped his hat on his red head.

"Oh, hell," he said, and walked out of the cottage.

BOY GANGS WORRY CITY

Juvenile crime has become such a serious menace in Wellington New Zealand, that A. M. Goulding, presiding magistrate, has appealed to the press for help. At Petone, a suburb, he held a session of the Juvenile Court for the special attendance of newspaper representatives. Thirteen boys, members of gangs, faced 20 charges. Stolen goods ranged from an electric motor and a watch to stamps and soft drinks. Ages ranged from nine to 15. Other offenders not arrested were as young as six. Detective-Sergeant F. Robinson said that the trouble was lack of parental control and that in many cases both parents were out to work.

GOBLINS COME OUT TONIGHT

Manistique Plans Its Annual Observance Of Hallowe'en

The goblins and witches, the jack o' lanterns and ghosts will be at large tonight as Manistique celebrates the traditional Hallowe'en in the traditional way.

An augmented police force will be on duty tonight to see that the Hallowe'en celebration is conducted in fun and that malicious pranksters don't take unfair advantage of the occasion.

Police officers in general have been pleased with the manner in which the populace has complied with their request not to "rush the season" and few complaints of pre-holiday maliciousness have been received. Even the practice of soaping windows for days ahead of the holiday has been virtually eliminated this fall as a result of general cooperation of the youngsters.

The "trick or treat" practice which in other years developed into a community nuisance when continued over a period of many days prior to Hallowe'en also has been materially reduced this fall, but a flood of this type of celebrating is anticipated tonight. It's a mild form of blackmail which the community accepts in good fun when confined to Hallowe'en, but which causes tempers to flare when the practice is spread over a period of days and sometimes weeks before Hallowe'en.

In keeping with the true spirit of Hallowe'en, many local families and organizations have scheduled Hallowe'en parties for this evening, when masks, costumes and holiday games with the traditional orange and black Halloween colors predominating will be featured.

Science Gaining In Fight Against Athlete's Foot

From Alger-Schoolcraft Health Unit

Athlete's foot is extremely widespread in Michigan. Almost everyone has an attack of it at one time or another in a lifetime. The condition is caused by a fungus or mold which is frequently found on contaminated floors. Thus floor sanitation becomes a problem in locker rooms, shower rooms and runways of swimming pools where bare feet come in contact with the contaminated floor. Authorities in charge of athletic buildings have desperately tried to control athlete's foot by keeping the floors scrupulously clean and providing antiseptic foot baths near the doorways of swimming pools and locker rooms, but these methods have not been successful. The antiseptic foot bath removes some of the organisms from the feet and destroys them, but the bather often contaminates his feet again before leaving the building.

W. L. Mallmann, a bacteriologist of Michigan State college, East Lansing, reporting his experience in the Journal of the American Medical association, describes a new cement floor-surfacing material which he believes will solve the problem of the spread of athlete's foot in the shower rooms of gymnasiums. This surfacing material was designed by D. F. Hubbell, and is called Hubbellite. The surfacing material contains cupric oxychloride. According to the manufacturers' claims, this product, when wet, releases a minute amount of copper compound which destroys bacteria in the water film on the floor surface. It has been known for years that copper will destroy fungi, and here is a clever application of this fact to the shower rooms and swimming pools.

Lions Carnival Plans Shaping Up

Admission tickets for the Manistique Lions club "million dollar" indoor carnival which will be held at the Manistique Roller Rink Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 12 and 13, will be placed on sale this week, it has been announced. The carnival will offer a number of attractive booths, featuring fun for all.

Lions club members will be in charge of all of the entertainment booths, and the carnival motif will prevail.

GAA Hallowe'en Party Tonight

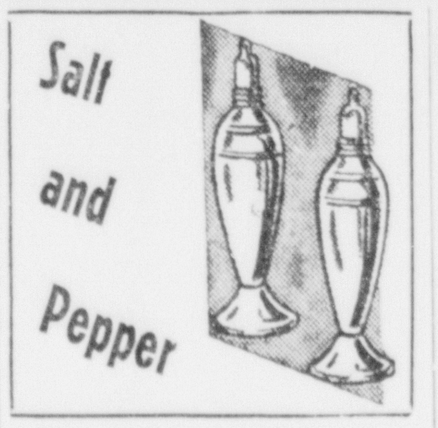
Parents of school children are also invited to attend.



Ripe Strawberries—The other day one of our readers brought in an arbutus plant in full bloom. As further proof that the seasons are getting jumbled up here, Ed Jewell this week brought into town a wild strawberry vine containing a cluster of ripe strawberries. The vine was picked at the the Indian Lake state park. Imagine it!

Taking Shape—The city's comfort station and information building being erected at the Triangle Park is rapidly taking shape. The framework has been completed and workmen are now engaged in laying the siding of native limestone. Installation of plumbing also is progressing. Some delays have been encountered in getting necessary materials, however.

S—&—P

Rock Formation—It is expected that rock will be encountered most of the depth of the city's deep well, which the Layne Northwest Co. will begin drilling here soon. A 19 inch hole will be drilled as deep as the bit discloses fissured rock or until a shale formation is encountered. Drilling will proceed night and day until the job is completed, officials of the company have indicated.

Debate Question—Debate coaches are enthusiastic in their approval of the debate question established for Michigan high school debates this year. The question concerns military conscription of able bodied males before attaining the present draft age, which is 21 years. Arguments on both sides are strong but particularly appealing is the fact that the question is one of vital interest to the country at the present ime.

REUNION IDEA GETS APPLAUSE

Clyde McCauley Pledges Support, Now Living In Washington

Clyde McCauley, a member of the Manistique high school class of 1917, who is now proprietor of the National Research Institute in Washington, D. C., will be among those who will attend the reunion of the classes of 1894-1925 which will be held in Manistique next summer.

Mr. McCauley has been away from Manistique for 20 years, is married, and the father of twin daughters, now 12 years old.

Questionnaires have been mailed out by the reunion publicity committee to M. H. S. graduates, now living from Maine to California. Mr. McCauley's very interesting answers to the questions contained in the form follow:

Q. Who was the bad boy of your class?

A. Tck! Tck! We didn't have any bad boy in OUR class.

Q. Who was the old maid who turned out to be the glamour girl?

A. Don't you dames know that to a boy of 17 all girls are glamour girls--with a capital Glamour!

Q. Did that mean English teacher finally break her neck?

A. Well-l-l, virtually. Y'see, she up and got married.

Q. Remember that stiff girl in your class?

A. She wasn't stiff. Girls could not get in saloons in those days.

Q. Do your alibis still work?

A. No, nor my new ones either.

Q. Do you make anywhere near as much money as you were sure you would when you were graduated?

A. It's impossible with a Democratic administration. (Also with a Republican administration.)

What, you ask, do I remember about high school that you have not mentioned?

Well, I remember my first day. How, as a freckled, pimply faced kid in search of learning I eagerly pushed through the swinging doors and called for a . . . . Whoa, that's some other place.

I'll never forget the smiles my classmates exchanged as I wrote my name on the board and asked Ed Brault to set 'em up on the other alley. But that wasn't school either.

For the life of me, I can't remember whether I passed or flunked in any given subject. I must further confess that time has ticked away so fast that I've lost track of most of the "old gang."

That's my big complaint against higher learning. We spend four years going through high school to equip ourselves to go out into the world. Once caught in the dizzy whirl, we're spun along so fast we haven't the time to write to old friends. Years later when we realize what we've missed, when we long for a renewal of the friendships of youth, we find that we can't remember who they were.

For that reason, if for no other, I think the reunion idea is grand. Deal me in—I'll be there.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

College Football Honoring Alumni Now In Military Services

PROS, TOO, PAY THEIR TRIBUTES

Biggest Collection This Weekend At Stadium of Ohio State

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Colleges from coast to coast, and thousands of football lovers, are now paying tribute each week to alumni and former students who have been called to serve in the military services.

The movement is spreading to the professional football ranks, also, the war department said, and when the season ends hundreds of thousands of football fans will have honored men in the service.

Seven or more collegiate games this week-end will be preceded by special ceremonies for the students and alumni of the home school who are in service, but the biggest celebration of all is set for the Ohio State-Illinois game at Columbus, Nov. 15.

Fly Over Stadium

Alumni of Ohio State now in the Army Air Corps at nearby fields will fly planes over the stadium while more than 500 alumni and former students wearing uniforms will march to midfield for a flag-raising ceremony. It is planned to have tanks and other modern war machines on display.

This week-end the University of Arizona hopes to have as it guests 75 alumni who are officers on duty in or near El Paso, Texas. The officers may accompany the Texas School of Mines team when it goes to Tucson for a night game.

Marquette, Too

Marquette will honor its soldier-alumni Friday and Saturday. A memorial mass will be held Friday night, then on Saturday the Marquette Naval R. O. T. C. unit will lead alumni and former students in pre-game exercises.

Other games with special exercises preceding them this week are: Ohio State-Pitt at Pittsburgh; Kentucky-Alabama at Tuscaloosa; Knox-Coe at Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and Western Kentucky State, Western Michigan College, at Kalamazoo, Mich.

In addition to special exercises for army men, many colleges and some pro teams are admitting men in uniform to games free or at reduced prices.

Greenberg Leaves Army Life Soon

Fort Custer, Mich., Oct. 30, (AP)—Release from the army by Christmas of Corporal Henry (Hank) Greenberg, Detroit Tiger outfielder, was predicted today by officers of the Fifth Infantry division.

Greenberg, who will be 31 years old next New Year's Day, would be eligible for discharge by the end of the year under revised quotas which cover soldiers claiming dependency or hardship, those whose terms of service have expired, and those past 28 years of age last July 1.

EAR TROUBLE

Lansing, Oct. 30, (AP)—Wally Pawloski, 158-pound Michigan State college halfback, has been practicing this week with a pair of cauliflower ears swathed in bandages. Pawloski, called 'the champ" by his mates, wore a strapless helmet against Wayne university last Saturday and it was yanked off abruptly so many times his ears were sharply nicked.

Junior Saints Ring Up Triumph At Gladstone

St. Joe high school reserves opened their two-game gridiron schedule with a 7-6 decision over the Gladstone junior Braves on the latter's field yesterday afternoon.

After an offside penalty and fumble cost the junior Saints a touchdown after they penetrated to the Gladstone one-yard line early in the first quarter, they came back with a sustained drive that paid dividends. Flanders made both the touchdown and the extra points on bucks into the line.

Score in Third

Gladstone pushed over a touchdown and six points in the third quarter, but failed to convert the extra point. Burroughs' runs, a pair netting a total of 40 yards, provided the touchdown.

On the next kickoff F. Cannon, Gladstone, recovered a Saint fumble on the St. Joe 35, but the Parochials held on their 30. Walker and Harris netted the Saints two first downs, but then their offense stalled. Freddie Hirn, post-graduate student and reserve coach at St. Joe, directed the junior Saints in action.

Starting lineups:

Gladstone		St. Joe
Schenk	LE	Marcoe
Swanson	LT	Valich
Thivierge	LG	R. Marenger
Winchester	C	Seymour
Knutsen	RG	LaComb
Long	RT	Miron
B. Corbett	RE	O'Donnell
F. Cannon	QB	Bartel
Legault	LH	Harris
Burroughs	RH	Walker
Mineau	FB	Flanders

St. Joe substitutions: Weber, Barbeau, Bob Marenger, Kroll, Hirn, Hermes.

Breaks Wrist

F. Cannon, Gladstone reserve quarterback and offensive sparkplug for his team, suffered a fracture of the right wrist in the closing minutes of the game.

Score by quarters:

St. Joe	7	0	0	0	—7
Gladstone	0	0	6	0	—6

Referee, Coach Keil, Gladstone; head linesman, Coach Kant, St. Joe.

The St. Joe reserves will face Escanaba high yannigans next Monday afternon on the local field.

Short Shots on Sports

By Milton Plumb

Veteran duck hunters report that the big flights may begin winging through this weekend, particularily if there is a real "break" in the direction of cold weather. Remember the storm of last Armistice Day that, after a slow start on the duck hunting, sent the birds winging southward in record tens of thousands, the storm that took lives of several score hunters?

Speaking of ducks, Whitney Martin, sports writer par excellence, came forth yesterday with the following items:

"Walter C. Bonebrake of Oklahoma City, intent on decreasing the duck population, stepped to the edge of a small lake early one morning, gun in hand. Before he could raise the gun, a whole flock on the lake took off and flew right at him. He closed his eyes and grabbed with his free hand, and when the air had cleared he found himself clutching a nice, greenhead mallard drake. And the funny part of it was, he didn't sight another duck all day."

It would be funny if it were not so ridiculous. Coach Vic Wojcihovski, popular Kingsford mentor, whom officials claimed was coaching his team against Norway from the sidelines, saw his team penalized 15 yards for that offense, real or alleged. The laugh is that Coach Allen Ronberg, the alert and peppery pilot of Norway, is generally recognized as an outstanding sidelines-coacher of the U. P. and we are yet to hear that Norway was penalized because of it . . . It seems that Saigh, Iron River, has scored 88 points and Gemignani, Hancock, 87, this year. . . . Escanaba high school will make a complete financial report on football after the Gladstone game. Crowds at games here this season, in general, were smaller than expected. It could be that such is the price a high school team must pay for winning.

The Daily Press ballot for All-U. P. football selections goes into the mail tomorrow. We are not making public our choices, since we by no means saw all the Upper Peninsula teams in action and felt that we could conscientously vote for only those outstanding players we or other writers of the Press saw in action, plus those boys whom gridiron officials were unanimous in terming outstanding. If others—sportswriters, officials and coaches—made up their selections should be recorded for tabulation. In preparing our ballot, we did so with the realization that many of the boys we nominated for first or second team positions will not win the same, and that is fair, so we didn't see in action many outstanding players of some teams.

After the St. Joe, Gladstone and Escanaba teams have completed their schedules, we may make public the names of boys on those teams ,if any, whom we nominated, without stating whether such nominations were for first or second teams. We are not interested in learning the nominations of others who cast ballots. It is up to each person casting a ballot to see that stellar players on teams in his area AND on teams which opposed teams of that area are given nominations to which they were entitled.

One reader asked for ground and air gains by both teams in the Esky-Marinette game. Here 'tis:

	Running Gains	Running Losses	Passing Gains
Esky	118	1	79
Marinette	57	73	190

(Note: Losses on running plays included losses suffered through fumbles recovered by the fumbling team, not losses through fumbles recovered by the opposition. Penalty losses not shown).

Pre-Bowl Tilts Steal Spotlight From Big Games

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, Oct. 30—(The Special News Service) — Speaking with a Rose Bowl accent, Oregon might have made a slight error in scheduling Texas for a Dec. 6 game. Oregon may not rate a bowl bid, but it is a fairly representative team in that cockeyed season they're having out there, having beaten Southern California, which beat Oregon State, which beat Stanford, which right now seems the best bowl bet. Should Texas in its customary free-handed manner roll over Oregon convincingly, the Longhorns would be top-heavy favorites to win over any coast team they might meet at Pasadena, if and when. And this boy vs. man competition isn't good box office. The fans want a contest. Meanwhile, the Sugar Bowl folks, not tied down with any rule or tradition demanding that they pick one team from their own back yard, sit back gleefully and await developments, hoping Texas will knock the living daylights out of Oregon.

Kick or Praise?

Alva Bradley says if he can get the kind of man he wants for the job of general manager of the Cleveland Indians, he will keep Roger Peckinpaugh as team manager. Otherwise he'll give Peckinpaugh the job of general manager. Ouch! That sounds like he was saying: "If I can't get a good man, the job is yours." However, he lightens the blow by saying he believes Peck is an excellent field manager.

How times change department: University of Pittsburgh has scored seven points to 112 for its football opponents. And a Pitt publicity release reveals that kicking is the only department in which Pittsburgh has improved. Alumni or team?

Nice Gesture

That was a nice gesture of the Detroit Tigers in voting Hank Greenberg a full share—$167.46—in the club's world series take. That shows the players still are champions at heart.

The "T" formation and other systems calling for hocus-pocus won't be a complete success until somebody invents portable weather. Both Stanford and Santa Clara, exponents of the now-you-see-it, now-you-don't type of ball handling, met their waterloos on wet fields. If it rains when those two meet Saturday it should provide a study in futility. Whenever a team uses weather as an alibi we are tempted to comment: "Too bad it didn't rain on the other team, too."

Zivic To Meet Rab Robinson

New York, Oct. 30, (AP) – Just a year ago, give or take a couple of weeks, Fritzie Zivic came off the leaky roof circuit and did the impossible by punching the great Henry Armstrong to the end of the trail.

The night he did it a skinny kid from Harlem made his professional debut in one of the four-round preliminaries, and then sat at ringside and watched Fritzie make it happen.

Tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden, the kid, Ray (Sugar) Robinson, a brown beanpole with a belt like a bomb, tops off a year of marching along the victory trail by tangling with Zivic in a ten-rounder that probably will get the winner a shot at Red Cochrane and the world welterweight championship.

Ponzi Near Lead In Cue Tourney

Philadelphia, Oct. 30, (AP)—Andrew Ponzi of New York advances to within a half game of first place in the world's pocket billiards round robin championship tournament today by defeating Harold Baker of Los Angeles 125 to 23 in five innings.

PACKERS, BEARS DRAW BIG CROWD

Professional Game Will Attract 46,500 to Wrigley Field

BY TOM SILER

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—The 46th renewal Sunday of the National Football League's oldest rivalry—between Green Bay's Packers and the big, bad Chicago Bears—has everything, except a park big enough to hold all the fans who want to watch it.

The clamor for tickets is unprecedented. All the seats in Wrigley Field have been sold and 3,000 standing room ducats were gobbled up in a few hours. The throng attracted by this pivotal battle will number 46,500, breaking all past records for a pro game in the midwest.

It is fitting that this contest should be the record-breaker. The rival mentors—George Halas of the Bears and Curley Lambeau—were pioneers of the pro game, beginning their bitter rivalry as player-coaches in 1921.

46th Meeting

The Bears and Packers have met 45 times, but none of the games was more important in the championship battle than this one. A victory for the undefeated Bears would virtually clinch the western sectional crown and give Chicago a berth in the championship playoff against the eastern winner. No other team on the Bear schedule is rated more than a long-shot chance to whip the high-scoring champions.

The Bears have whipped the Packers 23 times in the past and lost 18. Four games ended in ties. But always the fans have witnessed spectacular offensive battles with the Packers' great aerial attack pitted agains the Bears' crushing ground game.

Four Straight

The Bears, having won four straight from the Packers with the game's most versatile and devastating offensive, naturally are favored to win Sunday.

The Bears' biggest problem is to cover Don Hutson, Green Bay's incomparable end, who has scored 11 touchdowns in the 13 games he has played against the champions.

Football Notes

Champaign, Ill., (AP)—The Illinois football squad drilled in a heavy downpour today, taking the sloppy weather as a good omen for their battle with Michigan Saturday.

The Illini crushed Drake and Miami (O) university in yrainy weather and lost to Notre Dame and Minnesota on dry fields.

Coach Bob Zuppke concentrated on pass defense. Freshman Art Dufelmeier, impersonating Michigan's Tom Kuzma, tossed many passes for long gains.

Evanston, Ill., (AP)—Five thousand students gave the Northwestern Wildcats a deafening sendoff tonight as they entrained for the important clash with Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday.

The squad of 34 included all topflight players except Tony Samarzia, sophomore tackle whose knee injury will keep him idle for several weeks.

Columbus, O., (AP)—Coach Paul E. Brown called signals for both first and second strings today as the two Ohio State teams opposed each other in a fast game of "touch" football.

Brown mixed up the plays plenty to keep the defensive squad on the alert, then called in the freshman team to run Pittsburgh plays at the varsity.

The squad entrains at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow for the Smoky City and probably will work out in Pitt stadium during the afternoon.

Minneapolis, (AP) — Continued pessimistic reports on the condition of Minnesota's cripples was reflected today in the caustic comments of Coach Bernie Bierman as he sent the squad through its final hard workout before the Northwestern game.

Iowa City, Ia., (AP)—Bill Diehl, University of Iowa football captain and ace center, turned up with a leg injury today that may keep him out of the homecoming tilt with Indiana Saturday. George Frye filled in at his varsity position. Dr. Eddie Anderson sent the Hawkeyes through another long defensive drill which saw the first two teams smother Hoosier pass plays as demonstrated by the frosh and reserves.

Madison, Wis., (AP)—Wisconsin's varsity worked on defense today against Syracuse plays, as demonstrated by two frosh elevens, in the last heavy workout for the intersectional tilt here Saturday.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher said he would not use Bud Seelinger, first string sophomore left halfback, against the easterners. Seelinger is recovering from a knee injury.

Lafayette, Ind., (AP) — Three sophomores will be in Purdue university's backfield at the start of Saturday's Fordham football game, Coach Mal Elward said today just before 32 Boilermakers left by train for New York City. Sophs Bob Hajzyk, Frank Meakim and Bob Chester will start with senior fullback John Petty. Purdue will practice tomorrow at Westchester Country club at Rye, N. Y.

Bloomington, Ind., (AP)—Indiana university's Hoosiers leave at midnight, minus injured regular center John Tavener, for their Saturday football game at Iowa. They will practice on Coe college field in Cedar Rapids tomorrow and go to Iowa City Saturday noon.

Tries "1-A" Line

Peter Conners of Gonzaga claims football is an essential occupation, inasmuch as he eventually intends to play professionally. Certified for Army service, he has taken his case to court. "A football player shines brightest in his senior year," pleads Connors.

Miss Wall To Play Here Today

Miss Mary Agnes Wall, one of the nation's leading linkswomen, who paid the Gladstone course a visit yesterday, will make an appearance at Escanaba Golf today.

Miss Wall and Professional C. R. (Cotton) Leonard of the Esky course will play in an exhibition nine-hole match, starting at ten o'clock. Leonard said two other local golfers probably will be invited to round out a foursome.

A. CHRISTENSEN BACK IN UNIFORM

Escanaba Back Returns to Practice After Long Injury Layoff

Art Christensen, one of whose ribs cracked under a resounding thump on the gridiron a month ago, has returned to the Escanaba high school football stage and is scrapping merrily for an opportunity to ramble against Gladstone here Nov. 11.

Christensen is a junior, and while he is not on the hefty side, Coach George Ruwitch has great plans for next year when the Eskymo eleven must be built anew from wreckage which June graduation will cause. Until that rib cracked, Christensen was alternating between halfback and fullback.

The Escanaba backfield may have two Christensens in its lineup next season, Art and Roy, his younger brother. Roy, a sophomore, is on the tall and rugged side, one of Coach Jim Rouman's reserve backs who show real possibilities and do not let that fact increase their hat sizes.

Moved Again

Meanwhile, Dick Bliss, the flame-haired Escanaban of whom Ruwitch once said, "That Irishman can play football when I tell him to really 'cut loose', is getting dizzy, moving from end to half, half to end, ad infinitum. Right now Bliss, normally an end who cheerfully made himself into a back at Ruwitch's request when injuries shellshocked the Eskymos, is a halfback again and a willing one.

Captain George Shomin and Don Jacobs are still moving back and forth between end and tackle berths. "Big John" Peltier, tackle, played all of the Esky-Marinette game and will start against Gladstone if he can stave off competition for his berth. Bill Provost, end, and Kippy Derouin, fullback, were missing from yesterday's practice, devoted largely to blocking, signal drills and pass defense.

AWARDS PLAYER

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—Commissioner Elmer Layden of the National Football League announced tonight Fred Vanzo, Detroit blocking back, had been awarded to the Chicago Cardinals on waivers.

Vanzo was claimed by Washington, Cleveland and the Cardinals, the latter team getting him because it ranked below the other two in the standings. The waiver price is $100. Vanzo is scheduled to be inducted into the army about December 1.

Layden also announced Lou Tomasetti, Philadelphia halfback, went to Detroit on waivers and Del Lyman, Green Bay tackle, to Cleveland by the same rotue.

Football Providing Screwy News Items

BY BILL BONI

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Being the first issue of the 1941 volume of "Screwy News of the Gridiron," whose masthead carries the slogan, "Fooball's Fun — If You Know Where to Find It":

Francis Schmidt is coaching at Idaho now, but in the Western Conference they still tell stories about—or on—him.

Ohio State's Buckeyes were in the midst of a tough battle, and Schmidt was having a terrible time with one of the subs sitting next to him on the bench. Each time the regular pulled a bad play, the boy nudged Schmidt with his elbow.

"Aw, come on, coach—send me in. I can do better than that guy."

This happened several times, until finally the regular pulled a really bad boot; the sub gave Smithy a really hard nudge, and started his spiel again.

"Gosh darn it, Bronson, you make me sick," Schmidt stormed. "I don't even want you next to me," and Schmidt stomped way down the line to the end of the bench. But he didn't sit down. He came back.

"Gosh darn it, Bronson, I'm the coach of this team, not you." said Schmidt. "You go sit on the end of the bench."

Trouble at "Trann"

This seems to be the season the boys are getting lost. Take the Centre-Transylvania game, as an example.

Transylvania kicked off to start the second half, and the Transylvania line held nicely on Centre's first two plays. On the Transylvania bench Fullback Chet Thornberry was admiring his mates' defensive stand; he turned to his neighbor to share this admiration. A second later he turned to his neighbor again, and asked:

"Say, what the heck are you doing here?"

His neighbor was Harry Herman, Transylvania's only other fullback. All the time Thornberry had been lost in admiration of his club's defense, he was supposed to be out there with them. They were playing with only ten men.

Penalty Gain

Penalties furnish their share of oddities, too—as in the Arkansas-Detroit game last Friday night, in which the Razorbacks made a net gain of three yards on a clipping penalty. On the play the ball-carrier made 18 yards; the clipping occurred at a point 10 yards ahead of where the ball-carier was stopped, and when the 15 yards were paced off the ball was set down three yards ahead of where the play started.

In the Manhattan - Villanova game the same night four fouls were committed on one play, a punt, without a yard gained or lost. The kicking team was guilty of clipping on two counts, the defending team of clipping and roughing the kicker. The fouls nullified each other.

At Notre Dame

Notre Dame ticket manager John Donohue finds even his best friends critical of the accommodations they get, as witness this letter:

"The usher examined my stubs, then started climbing. We went up and and up. Finally he stopped and said:

" 'This is as high as I can take you. Beyond this point I get a nose-bleed.'

"Well, I went on alone from there, until at last I reached my seat, high on the rim of the stadium. The game had started, so I turned to the man next to me and asked:

" 'How's the game coming, mister?'

" 'What game?' he replied. 'I'm flying the mail to Cleveland.' "

HOME RUN KING LOOKS TO PAST

Bygones Should Remain Bygones, John (Bucky) Freeman Declares

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP)—Baseball's first home run king, John (Bucky) Freeman, rounded out 70 years of living today—still keenly interested in the sport, but convinced bygones should be bygones.

"The fans don't give a whoop about what happened 25 or 35 years ago," said the man who clouted 25 homers in 1899 to gain fame and establish a record that remained unsurpassed until Babe Ruth collected 30 round-trippers 20 years later.

They live in the present and all this guff about the game being better in the old days does not interest them. Besides I think it's a pretty darned good game as it stands and probably a trifle more interesting—more of a spectacle —than it was in my day."

Freeman rose from Wilkes-Barre amateur baseball ranks and spent 34 years in the majors as an active player, retiring from the Boston Red Sox in 1925 to become a scout for the St. Louis Browns. He gave up that post in 1931 and has been taking it easy since.

An outfielder, the largest salary he ever received was $1,500.

Freeman began his major league career with the Washington club of the National league in 1891. He was farmed out the next season to the minors, remaining there until 1898, then was brought back to Washington. It was the next year he collected 25 homers and 27 triples. In 1900 Bucky was traded to the Boston Nationals along with Pitcher Bill Dineen, now an American league umpire. He went to the Boston Red Sox when the American league was organized in 1901.

South Bend, Ind., (AP)—Unbeaten Notre Dame, 35 strong, took a train today for New York City and its football game with unbeaten Army. Fans followed on special cars coupled to four different trains. The Irish will be quartered at Westchester Country club at Rye, N. Y.

WOLVERINES IN SHAPE FOR WAR

Crisler Directs Squad In Workout Against Air Attack By Illini

BY WILLIAM WEATHERSBY

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 30, (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines, admonished that a setup in football often spells upset, prepared to depart with air raid precautions tomorrow for their 27th engagement with Illinois.

Coach Fritz Crisler segregated the squad for a final home workout and put the lineman to work rushing passers while the backfield spent an hour knocking down aerials of the brand Bob Zuppke teaches the Illini.

"Illinois threw 25 passes against Notre Dame last week and completed nearly half of them," Chrisler recalled. "And we expect them to throw as many against us Saturday."

The Illini passes, both coaches agreed, are not blind strokes in the dark. Zuppke's team, twice a winner and as many times loser, has not been shut out this season, and the overhead game accounted for most of its success.

Rely On Power

The Wolverines are making equally extensive preparations against razzle-dazzle and are relying primarily upon their power and weight advantage when it comes their turn to take possession of the ball.

There was no letdown evident on the practice field today from the ordeals of Northwestern and Minnesota on successive weeks, and all the Wolverines, with the exception of guard Julius Franks, have bounced back from the bruising the Gophers administered last Saturday.

Franks has an ailing ankle. The squad lost end Joe Rogers as a result of the Minnesota game.

Spartans Have Cage Practices In Full Swing

East Lansing, Oct. 30, (AP)—Basketball practice is in full swing at Michigan State college, but after a week of drills Coach Ben Van Alstyne announced pessimistically the Spartans this season will be "awful small."

Among the experienced performers is Chester Aubuchon, all-American guard two years ago, who missed playing last season because of serious illness. Chester's brother, Ira, a sophomore, also is a guard candidate.

Van Alstyne indicated forwards Joe Gerard and Dudley Jones, center Carl Petroski, and guard Bill Burk probably would get first call with Aubuchon at the outset of the season.

OUTSIDER WINS

Baltimore, Oct. 30, (AP)—H. C. Hatch's Filisteo, a rank outsider, set a new world's record of 3:30 4-5 for the two mile and 70 yard distance to win the $5,000-added Exterminator handicap at Pimlico today.

Filisteo was a length and a half ahead of Mrs. Marie Evans' Shot Put, the heavy favorite, which won the first running of the Endurance stake last year.

Dozen St. Joe Gridders to End Grid Careers Here Saturday Afternoon

An even dozen member of the St. Joseph's high school football squad will bring their scholastic gridiron careers to a close against Niagara, Wis., on the Escanaba high field Saturday afternoon.

Heading the list is Walter Lenis, regular guard, captain of the Parochials. His teammates this week elected Lenis captain for the season drawing to a close and he will lead the Saints into battle Saturday.

Others Finishing

Others who will be lost to the Parochials by graduation are Leroy Baker, halfback; Harold Kleiman, halfback; John Goloback, halfback; Doug Spade, quarterback; Billy Nolden, quarterback; Elmer Bonifas, center; Francis Farrell, guard; Walter Klug, tackle; Pat Hayes, tackle; Auvergne Breault, tackle, and Norbert Guindon, halfback.

Baker, Kleiman, Spade, Bonifas, Lenis, Farrell and Klug won football letters last season, Goloback won a letter in track last year. All of the graduating dozen likely will get letters for their pigskin pursuits this fall.

The Saints' varsity, favored to ring down the curtain with a victory over the invading Wisconsonians on Saturday, took it easy while the reserves scrapped matters out with Gladstone yannigans.

ACCIDENT KILLS MUNISING GIRL

June Elya, 17, Victim of Automobile Crash At Petoskey

Munising, Nov. 30—Miss June Elya, 17, student at Mather high school here, died at Little Traverse hospital in Petoskey, Mich., this morning from injuries received in an automobile accident at Petoskey last Sunday night. She suffered a broken pelvis and other injuries.

Miss Elya was riding in an automobile with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Desarmo and their three-year-old son, Richard, and Mr. and Mrs. Orson Elya, her parents, all returning to Munising from Mesick, near Cadillac, when their vehicle collided with another passenger car. Miss Lucille Showow, 22, of Burt Lake, Mich., a passenger in the other automobile, died shortly after the accident from injuries received in the collision. Mrs. Elya was reported driving the car containing the Munising people at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Elya suffered fractures of five ribs and a severe head cut, while Mr. Elya suffered three fractures of the pelvis and internal injuries and last night was reported in a serious condition. Mrs. Desarma suffered a pelvic fracture, while Mr. Desarma and the small child escaped with only minor injuries.

Miss Elya, a senior in the local high school, was born here June 17, 1924, and lived here all her life.

Local relatives of the injured people left for Petoskey today. C. F. Beaulieu, Munising undertaker, will return the body of Miss Elya to this city. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

State All Set For Clash With Missouri Tigers

East Lansing, Oct. 30. (AP)—Coach Charley Bachman said today Michigan State college's football stage was set for the Spartan homecoming tangle with Missouri's once-beaten Tigers Saturday.

"Beyond brushing up on signals, we've completed preparations for Saturday's game which should see us near full strength," Bachman declared.

"What's our strategy? We'll try running and if that big Missouri line bounces us, then we'll do a lot of pitching."

Light Backfield

Indications were the 170-pound Spartan backfield would be bounced plenty, Bachman said, pointing out that none of Missouri's five opponents to date scored against the Tigers' No. 1 line.

Bachman hopes the speed of 170-pound Dick Pieppe and 158-pound Wally Pawlowski, starting Spartan halfbacks, will keep them beyond too constant reach of the burly Missouri line, labeled at Columbia, Mo., the "seven bastions of steel."

Liklihood that 195-pound Ed Ripmaster might be back in the Spartan fullback spot against the Tigers vanished yesterday when the Grand Rapids junior's injured knee buckled in his first scrimmage attempt since pre-season practice.

Baseball Players Get Good Jobs, Up Before Grand Jury

St. Louis, Oct. 30 (AP)—Eight professional baseball players were summoned today before a circuit court grand jury investigating the financial affairs of Local 42 of the AFL Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union.

Acting Circuit Attorney Henry G. Morris said the grand jury wanted to ascertain the circumstances under which some of the players received work permits from the union and got jobs at the government small arms ammunition plant this fall as laborers at high hourly wages.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., is the sponge capital of the world.

Heads C. of C.

Ernest G. Bennett, general manager of the Escanaba Paper company, was elected president of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce at the organization meeting of the new board of directors held yesterday. A. V. Aronson was elected first vice president; Arthur P. Jensen, second vice president; and Leslie French, treasurer.

Lach Proving Self Great Back Down At Duke

BY HARRY GRAYSON

Wallace Wade has another tremendous team at Duke, but the Durham Dandies may have to wait for a Bowl invitation and New Year's Day to get real competition.

Duke's schedule appeared formidable enough at the outset—Wake Forest, Tennessee, Maryland, Colgate, Pittsburgh, Georgia Tech, Davidson, North Carolina and North Carolina State—but Colgate is the only outfit that stirred up trouble to date, and the Red Raiders were beaten by a couple of touchdowns.

Duke has a distinctly different Wade team, with a versatile offense and 11 first-stringers who are good defensively.

DOUBLE TRIPLE-THREAT

Wingback Steve Lach is rated second only to Ace Parker in Duke football history.

That's a fine compliment when you consider that fleet George McAfee, now of the Chicago Bears, and many other corking backs performed for the Durham institution.

Though much larger than Parker at 6 feet 2 and 190 pounds, Lach in many ways is remindful of the current star of the Brooklyn professionals. Because of his size, he perhaps has more power than Parker.

Like Parker, he is not what you would call swift, but it is tough to knock him off his feet.

He is called a double triple-threat because he blocks, tackles and catches passes as well as he runs, passes and punts. He is one of those Mr. Dependables who is always in the right place at the right time.

Lach saved a touchdown against Colgate by catching Indian Bill Geyer, a 9.9 man, from behind on the Duke 20.

Southeast Power Rationing Ordered

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—The OPM today ordered emergency power rationing in seven southeastern states effective Nov. 10, and immediate discontinuance of power for such purposes as sign and show window lighting, floodlighting athletic fields and theatre marquees in these states.

The OPM order requires a 30 per cent reduction of power use by large commercial and industrial consumers in Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, eastern Mississippi, northwest Florida, and southeastern South Carolina, including Charleston.

A five per cent reduction was ordered in North Carolina and most of South Carolina.

Pennsylvania now has more miles of hard surface road than any other state.
